Community Centre Day Care Christmas Party

On Wednesday 10th December 2008 the St Marys Day Centre celebrated our end of year break up for 2008 at the St Marys Community Health Centre.

With a crowd of 52 invited Day Centre Clients, Volunteer Community Transport Drivers and other guests attending on the day, we were huddled together like a tin of sardines but may I say on behalf of us all it was a fantastic day!

A traditional Christmas Dinner was enjoyed by us all and much laughter could be heard throughout the hallways of the Centre bringing a smile to the many faces that passed through the doors on the day. Especially at the sight of my 'Christmas Angel', Mrs Shirley Munday (pictured) and her husband Gary Munday who made an extra special effort to dress up on the day.

It has been another very successful, enjoyable year held at the Day Centre with much conversation, jokes, friendship, craft work, guest speakers and outings- although the outings are negotiable, as this year I think I broke even my record for bad weather on our planned outing days, with it raining on every single outing planned for the group this year. Next year you guys can pick the dates!

The St Marys Day Centre Group meet every Wednesday at the St Marys Community Health Centre from 9:00am-2:30pm to enjoy a variety of activities and visiting services. They are an extremely friendly group and welcome new people with open arms- why not come along some time in 2009 and see for yourself or give Hayley a call for further details on 6372 2111.

The group has the most wonderful group of volunteers to help assist me and keep me on track and I can't thank them enough for their ongoing support and commitment to the group so a BIG THANK YOU to: Liz and Dave Mallett, Irene Smith, Mark Reynolds, Courtney Burn, Jan Madden and Amanda McPhee whom have all helped out with volunteer duties at the Day Centre this year. You guys are priceless, and I could not do what we do without you!

So on behalf of myself, thank you again to everyone who has contributed towards making the St Marys Day Centre what it is. It's a truly enjoyable day and I thoroughly enjoy the company of you all. I hope you all have a very Merry Christmas and I look forward to seeing you all again in 2009.

A LITTLE BIT OF HERITAGE: Jim Haas

“Brindle”

As this is the last “Voice” for 2008 I would like to take this opportunity to wish everyone a joyous and safe Christmas and a happy 2009. Also to Editor Judy, I thank you for allowing me to share my little bits of heritage with the readers each fortnight.

For my final bit for the year I would like to give you another extract from the wonderful memories of Gilbert Schier, which have been donated to the St Patricks Head and Esk Valley Historical Society by John Schier and the Schier family. Here he is talking about buying his first motor car from Brindle Bradbury, another long time local identity who is no longer with us.

“.....Brindle Bradbury, he had this old Rover, single seater car - used to come in from Cornwall every Saturday and Friday night for shopping - she had four real good tyres on her, but the engine was only just goin' and oil was runnin' out of the diff. When he parked he'd rush round the back and put a billy under the diff to catch the oil that run out. The billy had a spout out the back so you could tip the oil back in. He'd fill her up and home he'd go. One morning he came in to the garage - one Saturday morning it was - looking for Henry Aulich. “He was supposed to buy me car,” he said.

But Henry never turned up, so Brindle offered her to me for ten quid.

I thought to meself: “I don't think the car's much good, but it's got good tyres and I'd get ten pounds worth of tyres off it and the tubes would probably be alright.”

I said, “I'll give you ten pound for it but I haven't got ten pound on me. Where's the car?”

“Up in the old man's yard.”

I said, “Is it going?”

“Oh yes, she'll go.”

He came back up just as I was lockin' up. “You still gonna buy the car off me?”

“Yeah.”

“I want the money in ten minutes, I gotta put it on a horse!”

He used to gamble something shockin', he'd gamble on anything,. Any rate, I said, “Alright then.” I finished up and got on the bike. He said, “You've only got five minutes.”

Cause we was living down in Groom Street then. I raced home on the bike and got my wallet out. I thought I had the ten pound, 'cause I never had much more than ten pound in it. Anyway we met up at old Jim Smith's corner. When I counted out, I only had nine pound so I said, “I only got nine!”

“That'll do.” he said, “The car's up in the old man's yard, go and get it yourself;” and off he went.

There's quite a story about that. He took the nine pound and put it on a horse. In fact he put his fortnight's pay on it 'cause it was pay day the day before. He also borrowed a couple of quid off somebody else. And as far as I know, the horse is still going! It couldn't win in a fit. If the others had all fell over, he still wouldn't have won, I don't think.

She was a turn out. He put all this money on, then he went up to his father's place to listen to the race on the wireless. He had a big cabinet one, about two foot six high, any rate, when the horse run amuck, Brindle went up to the front of the speaker, it was as big as a dinner plate and he kicked the speaker out of her in front of old Jim. Old Jim was sitting in the corner, he looked at what he'd done to his wireless and he leant for the kettle, he was gonna tip the kettle over him.

But by this time Brindle had gone and he never went home for three months. I don't know where he slept that night, but Lou Maney was going to Cornwall the next day, so he got in the back of his ute and he went out with him to his grandmother's.

The old car I brought had a canvas hood on her and she had a bit of a hole in it. We drove her out to Mathinna one night.

There was a girl friend and her mother and meself. We went out there to a ball. Geez it rained. Coming home we had to stuff handkerchiefs in the hole, and when the handkerchief got wet we had to pull it out and stuff in another one. The girl friend had to shove her hand out the side curtain, and wring the handkerchief out and we'd shove it in again.

She wasn't a bad old car though, once Peter Dawson and me pulled the head off her and cleaned her up, I did 2,000 miles in her.....”

Local identity, the late Gilbert Schier.

Christmas greetings to all

Gilbert brought his first motor car off another long time local identity, Brindle Bradbury.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

The recently highlighted dangers arising from the inadequacy of the Weldborough Pass to cope with heavy vehicles while maintaining the safety of other users, highlights how the decisions of a handful of politicians can ruin people's lives- in this case other users of the Pass and the contractors forced by their employers to travel that route.

As a local councillor, if a consultant's report provided in support of a Development Application stated that road fatalities would rise as a result of the project, I would exercise my Duty of Care and vote against the project. No development can be approved that will result in the death of even one person as a direct and foreseeable consequence of the development, when that person is not involved in the development in any capacity.

And yet this is what the Government and Opposition members of the State Parliament of Tasmania did in giving the go ahead for a pulp mill - they ignored the report by ITS Global, "Review of the Social and Economic Benefits of the Gunns Limited Pulp Mill Project", as it related to transport impacts, and by so doing failed in their Duty of Care to all road users in Tasmania.

The Review acknowledges that the impact of the mill on transport was a high concern in public consultation, (pg 15) concludes that road fatalities and road trauma may rise at the regional and local level, (pg 37) and states that any increase in log traffic is likely to be involved in a corresponding increase in the number of accidents involving log trucks and the number of associated fatalities, although it is "not precisely clear" how many more accidents and fatalities would occur (pg 38).

Gunns' response (pg39) was that it is up to the Government to provide the infrastructure to prevent the increased deaths, and that "the recent initiative of the forestry sector to develop a Code of Practice to address the stability problems associated with log trucks will help to ameliorate these impacts". The consultants concluded that while there will be an increase in road deaths and trauma, these will not undermine the net economic and social benefits of the project! (pg 39)

"Ameliorate" is spink for "not quite as many people will die", while "road trauma" is consultantspeak for "maiming" and "crippling", and the destruction of families by the death of fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters and friends, Dead, Just Like That! Sorry kids, Mum's dead, but she was just a minor negative impact, it was in a good cause, she died for the Pulp. And the elected representatives of the people, they thought that was OK.

There would seem to be the basis for a Class Action arising from any accident involving log trucks supplying the proposed mill. Furthermore, our elected representatives should be required to attend each and every funeral arising from the accidents that they have individually condoned in the name of the net economic and social benefit!

Additionally, employers should be prosecuted by Workplace Standards for breaching the Workplace Health and Safety Act for failing to maintain a safe workplace and working environment for their drivers and contractors by directing them to travel on roads which they know cannot be travelled without crossing the centre lines and breaking the road rules because of the physical dimensions of the road and the vehicle. It should not be left for the drivers to carry the can for the practices of their employer.

David Clement,
Councillor, Break O' Day Council.

To "Get a bl....y life"

As a resident of St Marys I feel compelled to comment on your letter in the previous edition of the Valley Voice.

I found your remarks to be a personal attack on a fellow resident who, like you is entitled to voice an opinion without being verbally abused and attacked.

I can understand why you have hidden behind anonymity by not putting your name to it, but then again I can also understand you not wanting other members of our small community knowing who you are.

I for one am NOT one of your "100%" who support your view or the way you expressed it.

On the other hand, I applaud Kim Chappell for her dignified response. (Name supplied) (Via email)

I wish to put my six penneth worth in with a reply to Councillor Reon Johns re his question to Council raised on behalf of a resident:

11/08.10.2 Social Functions

I would have thought Reon has been a "Councillor" long enough to be able to satisfactorily reply to such a question without having to raise this at a Council meeting. (what a waste of time)

The Council staff members who attended the TLC Melbourne Cup Luncheon (because that was the target in question) paid for their own meals and were invited by the TLC to represent B.O.D.Council. The hours "over & above" their regular paid working hours is beyond belief - as Reon knows full well.

Just look at Bush Fire December, hours upon hours of unpaid overtime freely put in by Council staff for their community.

On top of that, how many times has Council staff been seen weekends, late nights, helping out in emergencies & functions when ever needed.

Residents of Break O' Day Municipality should be honoured & grateful to have a General Manager & Council Staff who are willing to put in so much of their own life & time to assisting & filling the gaps when needed.

And let us not forget, the General Manager appoints employees, controls & directs them, not Councillors.

Well done BOD Council Staff—keep up the good work.
Proud to be a Resident of BOD Community.

It has become apparent to me after reading your pages over the last 12 months, that there are a few people who live in our local area that are not happy about the way we live life here.

To those few people I have a very simple solution. If you are not happy where you live, pack your bags and move on.

Leigh Spilsbury.

Dear Editor,

May I say through these pages that although I did not see all of the St Marys High School Leavers last week, I feel obliged to comment on how beautiful everyone looked. The parent and teachers should feel proud of such a wonderful group of young adults, and this includes the boys who all looked wonderful. It was a pleasure to watch them pass on their flowers to the girls and to see all of them so excited and looking forward to the evening. Well done all of you.

Maisie Finney,

The Traditional Christmas Carols

to be held in the Community Hall on Sunday December 21, at 8pm.

A change has been made to the presentation and format in that singing of Carols will be the prime issue with no individual items presented as in the past.

A band, led by Mr Don Ives will lead the event.

We invite all members of the community to join in the night.

Walch's Tasmanian Almanac of 1885 reports that Samuel Page's mail coach runs daily from The Corners (Conara) to Georges Bay (St Helens), taking in the towns of Avoca, Fingal, St Marys and Falmouth.

As well, Hunn's mail conveyance runs from Avoca to Swansea on Wednesdays and Saturdays, leaving at 8.00 am.

There are hotels in all the towns on the Main Road, as well as Ben Lomond, Mangana and Mathinna.

Tenders have been accepted for 47 miles of railway line from The Corners to St Marys.

Coal of excellent quality has been found at Coal Creek, about two and a half miles from Fingal. Two tunnels of 50 feet and 70 feet have been driven into coal seams at Mt Nicholas and the coal tested on the railways.

The coal at the end of the drives was found to be nearly equal to the coal brought in from Newcastle in New South Wales.

Tiana's proud parents were joined by her

The Say Cagerattler

I think it's about time I really rattled the cage and I'll probably tick off a few readers out there with my final subject of this year. So be it.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO REAL CHRISTMAS ?

A few weeks back now I recall opening up my newspaper and was confronted with two large catalogues exclusively dealing with Christmas stuff. The next day another, and virtually ever since it's the same day after day, and all of them revolving around Christmas presents but that was all.

Suddenly something triggered in my head without warning. I began to wonder how many people in this community and many thousands of others get wrapped up with all of this and quite frankly lose the real meaning of Christmas, that being the celebration of the birth of Our Lord.

How did we get to this level of commercialism and forget this very, very important detail.

For so many of us we should be ashamed when we lose the plot, if we purport to being true Christians that is. I know I am at the moment.

I'd strongly suggest that before many of us over indulge in crazy buying, gutsing ourselves on food and writing ourselves off on grog that we do one or both of the following. (1) Attend a Mass or Church service somewhere to pay respect for the occasion, or (2) Try to send a donation to a worthwhile aid institution that helps others.

I hear some say that Christmas is about family. Maybe it is to a degree, but again the point is still lost unless the big picture is considered, and this means that we appreciate what happened a little over two thousand years ago and signify it as Christians.

This Christmas don't just think about your own family, what presents you are going to deal with, how drunk you are going to get or how much food you are going to stuff in. Think about the real meaning of the season and can you offer some sort of genuine good will to others.

Otherwise what is the point of it all.

Now that I've got that off my mind can I pass on a special thanks to J.S. our incredible editor of our paper for her wonderful efforts again throughout the year. How she continues to fortnight after fortnight come up with the goods and always cope with all sorts of things (not least me) is amazing. Don't know what we'd do without you J.S. I'm sure we all agree on that and she has a pretty special proof reader too very close at hand. Thanks also from Cagerattler to many fellow contributors to the Valley Voice, regular or not, which really makes this paper an iconic feature of the area.

Have a safe, happy and truly reflective holiday period and hopefully see you next year.

What do you think?

"Tetsuya is associated with high quality, and his extensive use of fresh natural ingredients from Tasmania speaks wonders for our produce."

Mr Bartlett said he expects the new brand identity to be well received and deliver bottom-line value to businesses across all industries.

"This is a project which all Tasmanians should embrace as an opportunity to further promote and celebrate the many positive attributes associated with our island state."

St. Marys Pacing Club

NEW YEAR'S DAY MEETING JANUARY 1ST 2009

The club will be holding its annual race meeting on this day. This will be the 123rd year there has been a race meeting held at St Marys.

We hope as many as possible turn up to help keep this annual event going, and remain one of the most popular events in the district.

There will be eight races, lots of food and refreshments and entertainment for the children.

Prizes and betting vouchers also to be won.

We previously asked if any persons were interested in a wheelbarrow race. No replies, so if you are interested, time is running out.

Come along and help us have a great day.

New Brand 'Tasmania' to strengthen global image

Premier David Bartlett has launched a new Tasmanian brand identity in Launceston. The blue and green logo will be used to identify products, services and events as being Tasmanian.

"This new 'place of origin' brand reflects a new, outward looking Tasmania, one I am determined to build on as a place full of fresh ideas, innovative thinking and quality products. It will further strengthen our position in external markets, helping us to manage our economy through the present global uncertainty."

The new brand identity, developed by Brand Tasmania, is protected by copyright, but will be available to any business that becomes a member of Brand Tasmania.

The organisation, which was established by former Premier Jim Bacon, already has more than 250 member businesses.

"There is no better time to launch an aggressive branding campaign than now. Let's make sure that our export markets overseas know which products come from Tasmania, so that they can keep buying quality when they are making tough purchasing decisions in the coming months."

Mr Bartlett said the State's brand already had significant global traction and research showed that the word 'Tasmania' conveyed positive messages to many people.

"Italians use our wool to produce their costliest suits.

"European judges have recently given our Sauvignon Blanc a world's best award. And popular travel guide publisher, Lonely Planet, has deemed the Bay of Fires the best destination on Earth.

"Seafood, cheese, fine furniture, beer, ships and marine evacuation systems are among the products constantly adding to this positive story."

The Premier acknowledged the presence of Sydney celebrity chef Tetsuya Wakuda at the launch as Tasmania's Brand Ambassador.

Santa's got a back hoe, hoe,
Something I guess you didn't know.

With a G.P. bucket to push the snow.

He also has a big "John Deere",
With three-point linkage at the rear.
It's got lots of torque in the lower gears,
He works his farm part of the year.

And Santa owns a custom trike,
It's got lots of chrome, and big bright lights.
He looks really tough on his bike,
In his "Santa Patch" he's quite a sight!

He also has a big chainsaw,
In the forest, you can hear it roar.
He doesn't clear-fell anymore,
A point, He likes to underscore.

And yes, he's got a big red sleigh,
It's quite impressive, I must say.
It's all loaded up for Christmas Day,
If you're good, you will hear him say,

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

St Marys Police report Michael Spaulding, Constable

After a wild weekend of weather we would like to remind everyone of their responsibilities when driving through the Christmas period. Drivers are reminded that you must drive to the conditions not to the speed limits. A number of minor accidents were attended over the last couple of weeks, all as a result of drivers not driving to the road conditions at the time, luckily no one has suffered any long term injuries.

As we enter the festive season Police Operations in relation to road safety and public order will commence and continue during this period. Members of the public will only come to police attention if consumption of alcohol exceeds a reasonable level, causing them to conduct themselves in an unacceptable manner. Please DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE, if you believe you may have had too much to drink, then you probably have, arrange for a designated driver if you are planning on having too good a time. If intending leaving your premises during the holiday period, please try to have a neighbour check the premises on a regular basis, collecting mail and any other items that may indicate your absence.

We are also investigating a number of break-ins that occurred in Fingal and Avoca on Thursday the 27th November. A chainsaw and other items were stolen. Any information in relation to these or any other burglaries would be appreciated.

On a lighter note we would like to welcome to the St Marys station a new Officer In Charge. Sergeant Derek SINGLINE has taken up the position and brings with him over 30 years policing experience. Derek has spent a lot of his career on the North West Coast with stints in Uniform, Traffic, Licensing and Gaming, Drug Squad and CIB. Derek has been a Sergeant for 12 years and is looking forward to working back in a country policing role, having worked for eight years in the Deloraine Division and, also getting to know the locals. As he will be living in the town of St Marys, please introduce yourself to him and his wife Julianne and make them feel welcome.

We would like to take this opportunity to say goodbye and thank you to Charlie who leaves us this Friday.

We would also like to inform the community that the office hours at the St Marys Station will be changing. As of the 29th of December the office will only be open Tuesday to Friday, 9am to 2.30pm and closed on public holidays.

WE WISH EVERYONE A SAFE & JOYFUL CHRISTMAS

A Message of Hope for this Christmas from the Anglican Parish of Break O'Day
How to explain Christmas to your kids.

It is that most precious and wonderful of times, the afternoon after Christmas dinner. The turkey and the plum pud are settling nicely. The kids are outside playing furiously with their new treasures, and there are several hours left before the batteries run out. You contemplate the delicious prospect before you - almost as delicious as that pud - of staying exactly where you are, reclining on the back verandah lounge, for at least the next 2 hours.

Aahhh, bliss. But disaster strikes! "Dad?" It is your six year old. The smart one. The one who always asks the difficult questions. She has that tone of voice.

"Mmmm?". You reply, trying to indicate the fact that you are very nearly asleep, and hoping that it is not the batteries, or a demarcation dispute over the dolls' house.

"Dad, what is Christmas for?" Oh no, not that. With the delicious prospect of a snooze evaporating before your eyes, you try the traditional evasive manoeuvre. "Why don't you ask your mother?"

"She said to ask you."

You try to think of something quick, and general, that will make this go away.

"Well Christmas is a time for giving and sharing, and for spending time with our families." That should do it.

"But how come we only do it once a year. I mean, since its so fun, why don't we have a Christmas every month?" This suggestion sends you into such a deep shock, in your panic you make a fatal mistake.

"Well, sweetheart, we have Christmas only once, at this time of year, because its when Jesus was supposed to have been born."

You can't believe you made such an elementary blunder. You bought religion into the discussion! You know from past bitter experience that this opens a whole new vista of questions to the inquiring mind of a six year old. Any hope of a snooze has now disappeared.

"So it's kind of Jesus' birthday party?"

"I suppose you could say that."

"Who was Jesus?" This was getting worse by the minute.

"Well he was a great teacher who was born over 2000 years ago. 2008 to be precise."

"So he must be dead by now."

"Yes, well, he did die...."

"Is that why we give each other presents rather than him, because he's dead, and he can't use them?"

"Well...."

"But daddy, if he's dead, how come we're still having birthdays for him? You told me that your daddy is dead. But we don't still have birthdays for him do we, daddy?"

You remember the teacher commenting on the report card that your daughter has "an irresistible logic". You feel the grip of this logic tightening around your throat.

"Yes, that's true. But Jesus was a special case. A lot of people think that he's God's son. That's why people have been celebrating his birth for so long."

There was a slight pause, but only slight.

"But daddy, God's up in heaven, so shouldn't his son have been born in heaven, not down here?"

You don't want to give up, but things are getting out of hand. You try to dredge up some snippets from Sunday School, all those years ago. What did Mrs McGonnaghy use to say?"

"Ahmm, well.....yes, the thing is, God sent his baby down here to earth to be born as a human baby."

There was a slightly longer pause. For a moment you think you might be winning, but only for a moment.

"So, was he still God when he grew up?"

"Ahhhh...."

"But if he was still God when he grew up, then how come he died? Because God wouldn't die, would he Daddy? If someone tried to kill him, he'd just say, hey I'm God, do you want me to blast you with my trident, or whatever he had. So how did they manage to kill him, Daddy? Did they take away his trident or something?"

You are about to say that he died on a cross, but realise just in time that this will open up questions about hanging and methods of execution in general, blood, spears and all manner of tricky subjects.

You realise it's time to admit defeat. You haven't the faintest idea whether Jesus even was God, let alone why he died, or why he really was born, for that matter. The problem is the questions will only get harder next year.

"Sweetheart, you've got too many questions for your poor old dad. When I was a boy there was an old lady called Mrs McGonnaghy at Sunday School who used to answer my questions. Maybe we should see if there's someone like her who could answer yours too."

"Okay Dad, but I think you should come too, cause if Mrs McGonnaghy told you the answers, how come you can't tell me?"

And with a smile on her lips, she trots off back to the dolls house.

Oh, well, an hour's snooze is better than nothing.

Season's greetings to all our valued customers, we sincerely thank you for your support and patronage during the year.

Our heartfelt appreciation to our postie Craig Freiboth, 12 months without missing a day, despite the odd bout of sickness or injury and in all weather conditions is quite an achievement. Craig provided an outstanding level of service to the people of St Marys.

Thanks also to our super assistant Elise Wright and Ruth McGiveron and Minnie Goss for their valuable contribution that allowed us to take some precious time off.

We look forward to 2009 being a great year for St Marys.

Garbage

My daughter said to me the other day, "How did you dispose of garbage in your early days?"

That's ninety some years ago, and that set me to thinking. What did we do?

We certainly did not need a garbage collection service.

We had no such things as disposable nappies, no plastic bags, shampoo bottles etc. No bread wrappers, our bread, cakes and biscuits were all home made. No cereal boxes, we had rolled oats for porridge. The rolled oats came in a 7lb calico bag, the bag being reusable.

Tea bags had not been thought of. No egg cartons, we had farm eggs. No baby food jars or tins. No jam tins or bottles. All our jam was home made. If we did have a tin or a can of some description, it was quickly given a handle and made into a useful little bucket.

Sugar came in 70lb bags. These bags were so useful, but we do not see them today. All table scraps were given to the chickens and dogs and the cats feed themselves in the barn, by keeping the vermin under control. So therefore no cat and dog food cans. All paper products were used for lighting the open fire and wood burning stove.

Any calico bags were keep for making tea towels and for boiling the christmas pudding, or spotted dick and other suet puddings. These are just a few of my recollections, and as you can see, there was no need for a garbage collection service.

Maisie Finney.

Scamander Monday

All week long the smell of fire had rolled among the mountains by the summer sea, while the red horse rode unbridled to seek who would its plaything be.

The eastern mountains ended in a coast where fragments of unwitting people dwelled, and there, before the day its light had lost,
 turned into flame the smoke they'd smelled.

From the hills the fire down came,
 it snuffed the air, the coast to greet,
 then blistered the land with a withering heat,
 and joined the hunting winds in a devils game.

Along the ordered road the fire blast sped,
 a tempest path of smoke and flame, while on either hand helpless people fled or stayed ,unwilling players in a random game.

A game of chance with life or death their very selves at risk, their very breath, their hearts stone cold with a formless fear amidst the heat so fierce and sere.

The air it burned and walls of crackling flame from out the smoke pall came,
 and red mouthed shadows passed them by,
 as shimmering heat their lungs sucked dry.

A lull, a passing rush of laggard flame,
 a crash of falling tin ,and then a silence amid the noise of a retreating battle, whence the tempest noise now elsewhere came.

Trembling hands gripped tight in shock,
 ash gritted eyes with tears astream, minds numbed in the nightmare dream of their world so quickly lost.

That morn had dawned on a day not planned,
 the day brought forth a wasted land,
 and within the ending of the week,
 the red horse turned , turned south,
 to Four Mile Creek.

Desire of the Forbidden Sue Fish

She awakens in the night from a fitful sleep.. her heart pounding...sweat glistening on her body...in the stillness she can hear her husband of twenty years breathing softly by her side.

She turns to look at the sleeping form of the man she loves....does he know...has he guessed her burning lust..., her passion... for another?

She moans softly and rises trying to control her ragged breathing...knowing he is there.. waiting for her.. his perfect body glistening in the night...waiting ...It has been so long...so long since she was satisfied...slowly she approaches the door....no, no, no, she says in her head... trying to control the yearnings.

A week he has been there in the other room taunting her.. Knowing, seeing the lust in her eyes...the sweat slowly runs down between her breasts as she fights for control...it is wrong ...so wicked...but that seems to fuel the passion more....trembling with desire she enters the room...she can see the shape of him in the moonlight laying there waiting for her...hard and smooth his body calls for her...she reaches out her trembling hand wanting, wanting so much...to satisfy the desire...no, no, no, her mind screams...and with a sob she turns away...she cannot do it....breathing deeply she controls the lust and turns...he shall mock her no more...so she puts the chocolate back in the fridge and goes to bed...

Rainy days

St Marys experienced one of the states highest rainfalls last week and some areas recorded 175mls over approximately 48 hours.

Farmers and gardeners I am sure enjoyed this fortunate rain. Let's hope the orchardists don't lose their crops.

Bob Oates has been out and about and recorded the photos, right, last Saturday.

Taken in the town centre, at the sports centre and on Harefield road, they show the state of the situation.

Grade Six Leavers Dinner

Fingal Primary School Grade 6 students had their Leavers Dinner at the Fingal Hotel on Monday 15th December. It was pleasing to see how lovely they all looked. They had a nice meal and they all made a very nice speech. Their parents should be proud of them.

St Marys Sports Centre news Kackhander

Once again the weather has conspired to put a kybosh on activities at the club over the past week or so but at least the golf course has really benefited which is long needed. It's been a while since Trevor Viney has had to go "swimming" to undo the bung on LAKE NINTH but that's what he did last Sunday to help the drainage. This used to be a regular occurrence once so to see so much water there again after Friday night's and Saturday's deluge was really reminiscent of those times.

In the bowls the previous week we suffered losses to St Helens in both Men's and Women's comps, but despite less than favourable results the very depleted team proved that if ever we can put a full strength team on the paddock, we will take some stopping again in the finals. We now have a few weeks break over Christmas/New Year before hostilities resume mid January.

Very important--Time is running out to organise teams for the Clive Berwick Memorial Triples on December 28th so don't muck around will you. Thanks immensely to Pauline, Drew and family for your generous sponsorship again.

During the coming weeks there are heaps of chances to get various club championship games played too and remember there are excellent lights that can be used too.

To golf and a rapidly greening golf course is beckoning you to play over the holidays and our intrepid volunteers would love to see you partake in an enjoyable round or two.

Club President Bob Hersey and the Committee wish to extend their thanks to the members ,volunteers, visitors and supporters of the club and wish all a safe and happy time in the next few weeks.

The club also wishes to thank all at the Valley Voice. Our deepest thanks for granting us this invaluable space to pass on the news. It's really appreciated indeed.

Until next time, good hitting and rolling.

BOYS WILL BE BOYS!!

"Ninth Lake" could not be resisted by two boys, who shall remain nameless, along with the photographer.
