Letter FROM the Editor,

In this issue of the Valley Voice, several people have expressed their concern as to the content of letters published in the last edition. This is not the first time readers have not been happy with published letters.

I DO NOT WRITE THE LETTERS.

As we are all entitled to freedom of speech, it is very difficult for me, when receiving letters that are derogatory and maybe not signed, to choose to print them.

May I say that there are some letters which are not printed, not because of any opinion I may have as to the content, but because I consider them to be too inflammatory.

As the writer's of this issue's letters have stated, this is a small community, and letters are causing some division.

Is it my place to stop that, by not printing the letter-writers opinions? Do we stop printing any letters to the editor at all? I receive more compliments than complaints, and I am at a loss to know where the line should be drawn.

I would like your opinions on that next year.

This is a non paying volunteering position which takes up much of my time between editions, and I have enjoyed doing this job for the past 4½ years. If the public would like to see the Valley Voice with another editor, I am willing to be replaced.

Considering all that, this is the last issue for 2009, and I would like to thank all our loyal readers, contributors of articles, which come from many different sources, and include regulars Jim Haas, Cage Rattler and Kackhander, distributors of the paper, including the delivery boys and girls, the advertisers who keep our paper in production, the many photographs sent in regularly, from Peter Troode and others, the St Marys Pharmacy for allowing us to use them as a collection point, the St Marys District High School for their page every issue, the St Marys Community Health Centre for their contribution, the Fingal Primary School for their colour page, and last but not least the volunteers who turn up regularly once a fortnight, including my grandson, and put the paper together ready for sale after it is printed.

May I wish everyone a safe and happy holiday period, and all the best for 2010.

Judy Spilsbury, Editor.

Apology

In the last edition of the Valley & East Coast Voice a list of candidates for the Break O'Day Council election was published as a community service.

Due to an error in proof reading, entirely on my part, as no other volunteer has any input until the paper is printed, Mr Peter Roy Power was omitted from that list.

I have apologised privately and now wish to publicly apologise for any distress caused to Mr Power, and to make known that Mr power remains a candidate.

A LITTLE BIT OF HERITAGE: Jim Haas

Veteran's Golf

Veteran's golf in Australia came about when four businessmen met in Sydney on the 7th July 1965 and formed the Australian Veteran's Golf Association. The purpose of the Association was firstly to become affiliated with the World Senior Golf Association whose policy was to promote golf for seniors and through it generate goodwill between nations. A team was selected to represent Australia in the World Seniors Championships of 1965, of which formed the basis for Veteran's golf to kick off in Australia. Within a decade Veteran's golf spread throughout the country, including Tasmania with the major clubs in Hobart and Launceston being the first to form Associations consisting of affiliated golfers who were at least fifty five years of age.

It was a little slower taking off in the country areas, but in 1988 Ken Davey from Bicheno, along with Frank Singline and Scotty Jansen of the St Marys Golf Club, met over a couple of beers. They tossed the idea around for clubs on the East Coast and in the Fingal Valley to form a Veteran's Golf Association with a rotating roster. Seniors at Bicheno, St Marys and Malahide Golf Clubs were keen on the idea and on the 1st December 1988 the first game was played at St Marys with members from the three clubs, plus visitors from Ben Lomond and Swansea. Both Swansea and Ben Lomond, however, joined soon after in 1989.

From the humble beginnings of 1988 and a first year membership of 40 the fellowship of Veteran's golf continued to grow year after year. In 1995 Freycinet Golf Club at Coles Bay saw the benefits of Vet's golf and joined, they were followed by Scamander in 1998 and Campbell Town in 1999. Today, although Ben Lomond dropped out in 1998, there is a membership of almost 100 with an average of well over 30 players at each game, with around four visits to the seven, affiliated clubs each year.

Much of the success of Vets golf must go to the ladies of each club who provide a wonderful meal at half-time. Mary King and Betty McCarthy, too, have been valuable contributors over the years in administration duties. But without a doubt the person who has given the most to East Coast Veteran's golf is Arthur McCarthy who has been a member from the very beginning and was Secretary/Treasurer from 1991 to 2007. He ran the competitions with a casual professionalism that made the game fun and a day every Vet looks forward to. Arthur and his wife Betty have moved from Swansea to Hobart these days, but they still make the effort to attend most Vet days.

Arthur left a pair of big shoes to fill, but his successor, Garry (Speed) Maher of St Marys, is filling them well, so much so that he organised a magnificent event at St Marys Sports Centre on Tuesday the 1st of December 2009 to celebrate the 21st Birthday of the East Coast Veteran Golfers Association.

Players from all the clubs in the Association, plus a couple from Launceston and a few from St Helens, made up the field of fifty, who played a stableford event. This was complimented by a delicious half-time meal, catered for by the St Marys Golf Ladies.

There is always a small trophy or two given out to the golfers with the best score at Vets, but the real winner is every bloke who is fortunate enough to make it to the tee on Thursdays.

FIFTY YEARS OF ST MARYS AS A HIGH SCHOOL

Dear Editor,

Being a former pupil at St Mary's (from 1959 to '69) I have been fortunate to have attended two class reunions which were very successful and extremely enjoyable.

But I am aware of many other classes who have not had organized class reunions, including my sister Val who would love to catch-up with her school friends from her years concluding in 1966.

At a reunion held just over 12 months ago primarily organized by Patsy (Owens) Burgess and Irene (Waller) O'Neill, there were 75 attendees of school friends and partners and 8 or so teachers including John Tate and Bill Tomlin.

So, my idea is to capitalize on the fact the school has been a High School, (or is it District School now) for 50 years and open it up to all pupils and teachers from 1960 through to 2010, or anybody who attended school in St Marys! (The school became an Area School in its present location in 1949)

My suggestion is to make a real event of it and organise it over at least a few days from Friday, Saturday and Sunday. I am suggesting a golf and/or bowls tournament for past players and teachers, open day at the school, art exhibitions, dinner dance etc.

Of course this would be a great stimulus for the local economy as we could expect hundreds of attendees. With the technology available through e-mailing and Facebook etc., it is much easier to contact people no matter where they live.

This gives us ten months or so to get this off the ground and I would suggest having as many of the community groups involved including the school itself, the Parents & Friends, SMACD, The Lions Club, sporting groups etc.

So, who is willing to raise their hand and volunteer to be on an organising committee?

Sincerely, John Schier

To the editor, Valley Voice,

In reply to "lost customer for good" - name supplied, by email but not printed.

You were outraged by Councillor Johns poster being defaced, but not by Councillor McGiveron's also being defaced. I wonder why?

Election posters are put up with the permission and goodwill of the business proprietor and they can't be expected to police the safety of the same.

I suggest you take your dole money and spend it at the Salvation Army or St Vinneys, however please correct me if I am wrong and you are an employed and contributing member of our community like Col and Kim of 'Main Street Clothing.

Have a nice day.

Phil Peryman.

To The Editor

Valley Voice

I am writing to express my extreme disappointment that you chose to publish the "name supplied" letter berating the owners of Main St Clothing. The degree of vitriol displayed over such a trifling matter is beyond belief. Was it a cheap political stunt - who knows? Did it influence my voting intentions? Damn right!

To the author of the letter, maybe if you choose to reveal yourself people could compare your relative worth to the community against the hard working business people you so savagely attack.

My fear is that the Valley Voice is moving from being a community based publication to a self-serving organ for a minority of people with an extremely over inflated sense of achievement and self worth, causing only division and destructive influences within St Marys.

Harry Veldums,

St Marys.

Dear Editor,

The past issue of the Valley Voice had some "Letters to the Editor" which were/are offensive to many people.

The writers need to understand that we live in a small COMMUNITY, with many various opinions.

To disagree with freedom of speech/expression is ok.

But being rude and ignorant is no way to counter what you may have seen as rude and ignorant.

And in no way makes a respected point.

Regards

Anon. (name supplied, via email)

To the editor,

This is the first and last time I will address the accusation made in the last issue for the Valley Voice.

The nameless person who attacked us should be mindful of their duty to have all the facts before making such allegations. Also, it's a pity you remained anonymous, as this substantially weakens your claim if you cant even own up to it. I wonder what your motives are?

I have an absolute right to support whom I wish in the upcoming elections. I refuse to allow myself to be bullied, harassed or influenced by misguided, misinformed people, or be taken in by hidden agendas.

On a happier note, I would like to thank all those nice people who stopped us on the street or came in to MAIN STREET CLOTHING during the past 2 weeks to offer their support and advice. It helped a lot and made us really feel accepted by the community.

Our lives are happy and fulfilling and we will not jeopardize it in any way by being pulled into ridiculous, petty rubbish. It is a waste of time and energy. Life is too short.

Thanks for the extra promotion of MAIN STREET CLOTHING.

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND GOOD VOTING EVERYONE!!!!

To St.Marys People

St.Marys doesn't look very Christmassy. Please put some Christmas lights and decorations up so people can see them.

Jackson Spilsbury.

Editor of the Valley Voice,

I attended the 'Meet the Candidates for Council', with 20 plus other audience members at St Marys Town Hall on Monday 7th of December.

It was interesting to see the different way each candidate presented themselves and their ideas.

Some of their ideas were commendable and even if those candidates are not elected, I hope that their ideas will be looked at by council and implemented.

At the end of the session it seemed a shame to me that only 6 positions were available to the candidates; for there were more than that number worthy of a position on council.

It was also interesting to see only one (1) of the six (6) current councillors that are running for re-election attended the meeting.

Are they so confident of being re-elected, that they felt they did not need to present themselves, or was it that they did not wish to answer any questions?

I was asked by a St Helens client if the candidates from St Helens are the same ones that St Marys can vote for, or are they different?

Could this misunderstanding be another reason for the current councillors complacency?

David Watkins.

Dear Editor,

A few days back I had a brief meeting with Mr Clement. He said to me in a half-smart manner, "I'm glad you like my sign." Then he took off too quickly to properly hear my reply.

Well David, I do not like your sign. Say whatever you like to others, but here in writing I am telling you, that I, personally, do not like it at all. I cannot speak for everyone else.

I would like to take this opportunity to ask all the residents of the community to just take a moment and think of what kind of images they would like our visitors to take away with them when they leave?

How do we effectively convey who we are?

A poor approach to any activity yields a poor result.

Which way can we go forward in our New Year?

Merry Christmas to all.

Jeanette Peryman.

Dear Editor,

I am totally opposed to the visual pollution of our townscapes, highways and landscapes by authoritarian, unnecessary and inappropriately located signs such as "Water Restrictions Do Not Apply-Conserve Water".

"Unauthorised Maintenance of this Road is Forbidden" and "Throwing Stones at this Notice is prohibited-By Order". St Marys Pass and the western approach to Fingal are prime examples of local sign pollution, where a consolidation of signage would quieten the highway and increase the impact of the signs. The multiplicity of speed signs approaching and within towns is also a distraction to drivers and degrades townscapes, particularly when reinforced by tourist signs, as within St Marys, where signs direct visitors to an "Escape Route" to Bicheno and St Helens. Painting the back of signs along highways would also reduce driver dazzle at certain times of the day, and visually calm the highway.

So I was interested in the views of the writer in the last issue of the Voice regarding election signage, which, by a process of deduction, appeared largely directed at two signs erected by myself, a candidate standing for re-election as a Councillor and for election as Mayor.

Unfortunately the writer was incorrect in certain of her claims, and totally missed the point of the signage. Firstly the sign on the Esk Highway at the western entrance to St Marys will not be there for "a long time", but only for some 28 days until 22nd December. Secondly, it does comply fully with the Council regulations, in that it is less than 2m², it is erected with the permission of the owner of the property, has been notified to Council, will be removed within 42 days, and is not within the road reservation. Thirdly, it is in a location where everybody can read it, which is indeed the point of the sign, admittedly not a neat little A4 sign, but that would create a road hazard as passing drivers strained to read the important message.

I should also point out that the blue and yellow colour of the sign was chosen to complement the colour of our wheelie bins. Additionally, but not least, I am in favour of recycling, so that the use of ex chook house sheeting was an indication that I practice what I preach.

As for the sign near the school entrance at Gray Road, all ratepayers and residents have been asked to clearly identify their properties - my name is CLEMENT and my property is No1 Gray Road, hence the sign on my gate 1 CLEMENT.

David Clement (aka "ChookHouse Dave)

Candidate for The Break O'Day Local Elections

And the winner was democracy. Dear Editor, I would like to express my gratitude to those candidates in the upcoming municipal election who gave up their evening on Monday the 7th December to participate in the "Meet the Candidate" forum at St Marys. Equally deserving of gratitude are Mr Le Fevre for chairing proceedings in a non partisan manner and the Break O'Day Woodcraft Guild for arranging the event.

Congratulations to Councillors Osborne, Johns and Clements for being prepared to face the public and answer some tough questions about equity, communication and accountability... shame on those sitting candidates who failed to front or do the people of the municipality the courtesy of even replying to the invitation... your complacency will be remembered when I cast my votes. It was great to meet the new aspirants for office too, and to hear their vision for the municipality. We certainly have a quality field of candidates who are keen to get their message out to the voters; they all spoke well, answered difficult questions honestly and were very happy to engage with individuals afterwards.

Perhaps those sitting candidates who chose to ignore the forum would do well to glance over their shoulders... a pretty impressive field of starters has been assembled, they represent a diversity of life experience and views, and they are approaching fast, some of them might just beat you across the finish line.

Wendy Fowler, St Marys.

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank you for the professional way you handled the human error when not including myself in the list of candidates in the Valley Voice for the Break O'Day council elections, I fully understand that it was human error and it was not intentional.

I would like to take this opportunity to wish every candidate the very best in the elections and to thank my supporters and the people who have voted for me.

On behalf of my partner and myself we wish everyone the best for Xmas and the New Year.

Kind regards,

Peter Power.

The Say Cagerattler

The final Valley Voice is happening now and due to circumstances much of 2009's subject matter has revolved around local government issues. This is how it has to be sometimes. Guess what? My final subject matter is still the same. Go figure as they say. Very, very important is this issue too.

All of us would have received by now our Council election documents. USE THEM WISELY. I don't know how many times this year I have heard people complaining or commenting on the various virtues of our current councillors. Here is your chance to either stick with the status quo or to make big changes to our local officials. It is amazing to see the remarkable and diverse array of candidates this time around and whether you get in or not you should all be congratulated for taking such an interest in our community. It's wonderful.

It would also be terrific to see a cohesive, well organized and committed Council in 2010 and onwards. I don't know whether this requires personnel changes or just a need to focus on the issues and not on personalities. I for one would rather not continuously see arguments on procedural matters and the like in deference to a growing number of important matters that confront us nowadays. Good luck to all the candidates and please just get on with the job on its merits next year regardless whoever is there.

For anyone fortunate to attend the St Marys District High School Presentation Day you would have seen a great result across a wide variety of academic, performing arts and sporting fields. It has indeed been an outstanding year, tempered with extreme sadness with the loss of two wonderful staff members, but the Presentation Day was a high point and shows the kids are in great hands.

As this is the final Valley Voice of 2009, I'd personally like to thank our incredible editor (J.S.) and her amazing helpers across the board for nothing less than outstanding service to this community through the Voice. Anyone who can put up with me all year is amazing indeed. From Cagerattler, please have a safe and happy new year and hope to reconnect with you again in 2010.

What do you think ?

New Year's Day Pacing

St Marys Pacing Club Inc. news

Our annual race day is again fast approaching and we are gearing up for another great day.

We have had to do quite a bit of work such as fencing and gates to prevent runaway horses gaining access to public areas. The general public are not allowed into the stable area, for safety reasons.

We do not wish to have a bad accident or a possible fatality, so we would like people in attendance to please abide by these rules, they are not only ours, but are Tasmania wide.

As usual there will be plenty of food and refreshments, with the afternoon tea served by our ladies the best in the state.

Five bookmakers will be operating, plus the Tote.

There will be a $100 lucky programme, and a $100 losing betting ticket. An entry form for a Sony Hi-Fi donated by Robin Wilson will also be in the programme.

A bouncing castle and face painting for children will also be available.

Any persons wishing to assist on race day will be very much appreciated.

Seven races have been programmed and we could possibly have eight. Come along and support your local club and help make it another great meeting on New year's Day 2010.

New connecting foot-bridge open

The new footbridge connecting the Lions Park, BBQ, play area and toilet facilities with the lovely Wombat Walk area is now open for use. Congratulations to all concerned for a job well done. As there is to be an official opening, the full story of the build up to this event and the story about the gazebo currently being erected, will be published next year.

End of big year for the Salvation Army

JAM's excursion to Colin Buchanan live in Concert at the Door of Hope in Launceston.

The St Marys Salvation Army has had another big year, and 2010 is already shaping up to be big too!

But with this year nearly behind us, we look back and remember some great times, including JAM's fourth excursion to see Colin Buchanan, Leadership lessons at JLT (Junior Leader Training) many wonderful Sunday nights at JOY, friendship and encouragement at WOW and many people helped through LEGAL AID being hosted at the church (currently in suspension due to funding cutbacks)

The SALVATION ARMY welcomes all people and we encourage you to pop in for a cuppa and a chat. Please phone 6372 2099.

Some of the WOW ladies enjoy an ice cream.

Envoy Melanie Norton.

JAM's end of year event included a puppet show and some great singing, party food, balloons, streamers & games.

FINGAL RAILWAY STATION BACK ON TRACK

We finally have the Fingal Railway Station project back on track. The fence that has been sitting at the Council depot for the last 4 years has been started. Council have been very gracious in paying for the erection of the fence. Below are photos of the start of the job.

The Fingal District Progress Committee Inc. (a not for profit committee) is in the process of trying to transfer the Fingal Railway Station from the Break O'Day Community Enterprise Co-Operative Society Ltd (BODCEC). Unfortunately, BODCEC's members have declined and they cannot continue with the planned restoration of the Railway Station.

Our Business Plan for the Railway Station is to restore the Railway Station and put in a kitchen to provide light refreshments, e.g., toasted sandwiches, soup, Devonshire teas etc. Also to provide employment to for a full time co-ordinator and part time workers to run the tea rooms and also open an opportunity for work for the dole recipients and work experience for the St Mary's District High School students.

It is also envisaged with the support of the Don River Railway to run return train trips to Fingal. We have also received support from St Patrick's Head & Esk Valley Historical Society. They have suggested that in conjunction with Don River Railway they could put on a bus trip to meet with the train and take visitors further into the valley, either to historical towns or properties and possibly having meals at various businesses e.g.. Fingal Hotel, St Mary's Hotel or Mt Elephant Pancake Barn.

We also envisage further down the track to set up a website to advertise the restoration and tours that could be available.

We have been doing some fund raising for this project. We have had a quiz night and we currently have a raffle, which is drawn on 23rd December.

If anyone is interested in helping our small committee continue with this project please feel free to attend our next Progress Meeting on Wednesday, 3rd February 2010 at 7pm.

Your Duck is dead

A woman brought a very limp duck into a veterinary surgeon.

As she laid her pet on the table, the vet pulled out his stethoscope and listened to the bird's chest. After a moment or two, the vet shook his head sadly and said, "I'm sorry, your duck, Cuddles, has passed away."

The distressed woman wailed, "Are you sure?" "Yes, I am sure. The duck is dead," replied the vet. "How can you be so sure?" she protested. "I mean you haven't done any testing on him or anything. He might just be in a coma or something."

The vet rolled his eyes, turned around and left the room. He returned a few minutes later with a black Labrador Retriever.

As the duck's owner looked on in amazement, the dog stood on his hind legs, put his front paws on the examination table and sniffed the duck from top to bottom. He then looked up at the vet with sad eyes and shook his head.

The vet patted the dog on the head and took it out of the room.

A few minutes later he returned with a cat. The cat jumped on the table and also delicately sniffed the bird from head to foot. The cat sat back on its haunches, shook its head, meowed softly and strolled out of the room.

The vet looked at the woman and said, "I'm sorry, but as I said, this is most definitely, 100% certifiably, a dead duck.

The vet turned to his computer terminal, hit a few keys and produced a bill, which he handed to the woman. The duck's owner, still in shock, took the bill. "$150!" she cried, "$150 just to tell me my duck is dead!"

The vet shrugged, "I'm sorry. If you had just taken my word for it, the bill would have been $20, but with the Lab Report and the Cat Scan, it's now $150.

Only an Aussie could pull this one off!

Supposedly happened in Queensland.

Don't try this in Tasmania.

Recently a routine Police patrol car parked outside a local neighbourhood pub. Late in the evening the officer noticed a man leaving the bar so intoxicated that he could barely walk. The man stumbled around the car park for a few minutes, with the officer quietly observing. After what seemed an eternity and trying his keys on five vehicles, the man managed to find his car, which he fell into.

He was there for a few minutes as a number of other patrons left the bar and drove off. Finally he started the car, switched the wipers on and off, (it was a fine dry night) then flicked the indicators on, then off, tooted the horn and then switched on the lights. He moved the vehicle forward a few cm, reversed a little and then remained stationary for a few more minutes as some more vehicles left. At last he pulled out of the car park and started to drive slowly down the road.

The Police officer, having patiently waited all this time, now started up the patrol car, put on the flashing lights, promptly pulled the man over and carried out a random breathalyser test. To his amazement the breathalyser indicated no evidence of the man's intoxication. The Police officer said "I'll have to ask you to accompany me to the Police station - this breathalyser equipment must be broken."

"I doubt it," said the man, "tonight I'm the designated decoy".

St. Marys Tigers Football Club Inc.

The standard of football just gets better and better! On Friday evening the 4th of December a very good crowd turned up to watch a very entertaining match. As usual the young Bees bolted out of the gate and were over 6 goals in front at the end of the first quarter. The Tigers however steadied and gradually took the game up to the Bees but just couldn't claw back the big lead and went down narrowly by 7 points.

So the stage is set for the "decider" to be played on Saturday 19 December at the footy ground with a 6ish start. We know this is a busy time of the year but the players were keen to have another game before year's end so please make an effort to come out and enjoy some great footy. Santa will be making a flying visit at some stage of the evening and I'm sure that there will be some treats for the kids.

It would be remiss of me not to acknowledge the financial support given to those people who signed up as members this year and I apologise that we haven't really had many opportunities to repay your kindness. Bring along your membership card on Saturday and we will shout you a beer and something to eat.

Finally to our hard working committee and all those who have helped us this year goes a special vote of thanks. We might not be where we would have originally liked but we are hanging on and slowly building up funds and support that we hope will carry us back into a meaningful competition in the not too distant future.

It makes your heart ache to see all that talent out on the field; young players that under normal circumstances would have been playing with a St Marys Football team but it does provide you with the desire to keep going.

A merry Christmas to all our supporters, hope to see you at the footy ground on the 19th.

Club President.

St Marys Police report

We wish everyone a safe and merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

As a result of some changes in the stated legislation we would like the community to be aware of these. The new legislation increases penalties and are a focus of Tasmania Police:

Seatbelts:

Drivers to make sure seatbelts and child restraints are used

It is the responsibility of the driver to ensure that all passengers in the car are wearing a seatbelt or a child restraint. Drivers must now also ensure that adult passengers wear a seatbelt.

When all seatbelts or child restraints are used, no extra unrestrained passengers can travel in the vehicle.

Penalties

Penalties for seat belt and child restraint offences now range from $300 to $350 fine and 3 demerit points for drivers and $300 fine for passengers.

Child Restraints

From 30 November 2009 all children under four years of age must wear an approved child restraint that is properly fastened and adjusted when travelling in a car for improved safety. The type of restraint will depend on the age of the child as follows:

- under the age of six months: to be restrained in an approved rearward facing child restraint (e.g. infant capsule)

- from six months to less than the age of four: to be restrained in either an approved rearward facing child restraint or an approved forward facing child restraint with inbuilt harness (e.g. child safety seat)

Penalty

The penalty for failing to ensure a child aged under 16 years wears a child restraint or seat belt as required, is 3 demerit points and $350 fine.

Mobile phones

Using a mobile phone while driving is banned except to make or receive a phone call provided the phone:

- is secured in a commercially designed holder fixed to the vehicle; or
- can be operated by the driver without touching any part of the phone.

All other functions (including video calls, texting and emailing) are prohibited.

Holding the phone (whether or not engaged in a phone call) is also prohibited. 'Holding' includes resting the mobile on the driver's lap, or between the chin and shoulder or passing the phone to a passenger.

Penalty

The demerit point penalty for using a mobile phone whilst driving will increase from 2 to 3 demerit points on 30 November 2009.

We would also like the community to be aware that Tasmania Police are Targeting speeding, disqualified driving, risky and dangerous driving behaviour.

New vehicle clamping and confiscation laws have been enacted to deter people from using their vehicles in an irresponsible and dangerous manner on our roads.

The offences

If you are the driver of a vehicle that is involved in:

- reckless or dangerous driving
- street racing or time trials
- making unnecessary and unreasonable noise (including playing your stereo system too loudly)
- an exhibition of speed, acceleration or loss of traction (burn-outs or donuts)
- speeding at, or in excess of, 45 kilometres per hour over the speed limit
- driving while disqualified, when caught on a second or subsequent occasion
- evading police under the Police Powers (Vehicle Interception) Act 2000
- trespassing on the property of another with that vehicle
- refusing to leave an area, or returning to an area, after being told by a police officer to leave.

The consequences

- The vehicle may be clamped or impounded by police for at least twenty-eight days.
- You may be arrested.
- You may be required to appear in court at a later date.
- If convicted, you may be fined a large sum and will be ordered to pay a special compulsory penalty of $600 by the court.
- You may lose your licence for up to two years.
- You may face imprisonment for up to three months.

If you are caught committing any of the offences listed above for a second or subsequent time, the following penalties apply:

- The vehicle can be clamped or confiscated for a period of three months or longer.
- Police may seize the vehicle until all existing charges are resolved.
- Police may seek a forfeiture order (the vehicle can be seized permanently).

It does not matter if the vehicle you are driving at the time of the offence is yours.

General Street Offences:

Again we would remind the public that there is an on the spot fine if found with an open container of alcohol on a public street, the fine is $120. It is also a $120 if seen drinking from this open container.

We wish everyone a safe and merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Cooking up a storm in St Marys.

The first Community Kitchen program in Tasmania begins in St Marys.

What is a community kitchen? A Community Kitchen involves a group of 6-8 individuals coming together on a regular basis to socialise and cook before enjoying a delicious, affordable and nutritious meal together.

Our St Marys Community kitchen began in October and has been cooking together every Thursday morning at the Day Centre at the St Marys Community Health Centre. Cathy Parker is the “kitchen facilitator” and she is there to give the group a helping hand. They have chosen to cook dishes from around the world, from Nasi Goreng to Strawberry cake and many other delicious treats. The youngest member is 13 and our most senior member is quite a bit older than that!

Food appeals to everyone! You're never too young or too old. This program has been a partnership project between the Healthy Active Program in Break O'Day (at Healthy House) and St Marys Community Health Centre. We are hoping to hold another one next year.

If you would like more information, please call Michelle at the Healthy House on 6376 5242.

FIRE HAZARDS

Council highlights the need for owners and occupiers to reduce the fire hazards as the bushfire season approaches. It is recommended that "defendable space" is created where necessary by clearing all flammable vegetation. Dry grass and other fuel at ground level pose the greatest threat.

Owners and occupiers of property in the Municipality are reminded that over the coming weeks abatement notices, where considered necessary, be issued for the appropriate clearing of fire hazards. Under the Local Government Act 1993, Council is required to issue Fire Abatement Notices that calls for the removal of the hazard within a specified time period. Failure to remove fire hazards in the specified time could lead to compulsory clearance at the property owners' expense.

Council seeks the cooperation of owners and occupiers in ensuring that their property does not constitute a threat during the coming months.

For further information or reporting of a potential fire hazard please contact the Municipal Inspector on (03) 6376 7900.

The following is an article from Carers for Wildlife Tasmania Inc. a group of volunteer wildlife carers based in St Marys and throughout the Break O Day region.

Wombat...The common wombat is the largest burrowing herbivorous mammal. Indeed, it is such an accomplished burrower that early settlers called it a 'badger', a term that is still heard today. However, the closest relative of the wombat is, in fact, the koala. With its short tail and legs, characteristic waddle and 'cuddly' appearance the wombat is one of the most endearing of Australia's native animals.

The common wombat is a protected species in Tasmania and it is illegal to shoot or harm them, a permit is required to shoot or hunt the common wombat.

Wombats can be seen in a number of our national parks, including Douglas Apsley, Freycinet National Park, Narawntapu (formerly Asbestos Range) and Cradle Mountain National Park.

They are also common in the Break O'Day region and throughout the Fingal valley.

In Tasmania the wombat is widespread and found from sea level to alpine areas but shows a preference for heathland, coastal scrub and open forest, where soils favour their burrowing habits. Wombats often dig their burrows in the areas above creeks and gullies. Burrows can be up to 20m long and more than 2m below the ground, and have numerous connecting tunnels and entrances. There may also be more than one nest in the burrow, which they make from sticks, leaves and grasses.

The distinctive cube shaped dung of the wombat is a useful indication of its comings and goings. Any new object within a home range is a prime target for marking with dung, particularly if it is elevated. Fallen trees, fresh mushrooms, rocks and even an upright stick have been found with dung on top! The cube shape means that dung is less likely to roll off such objects.

The rump of the wombat is covered by a very tough, thick skin. If threatened, a wombat will dive into a nearby burrow or hollow log, using its rump as protection from the teeth and claws of its attacker. The wombat is also capable of crushing attackers against the burrow roof. Their natural enemies are Tasmanian devils and eagles, while no doubt the thylacine once preyed upon them.

Status

The wombat is common in Tasmania, particularly in the northeast of the state. However, since settlement, they have faced resentment from farmers as their burrows can be hazards to stock, and thousands were killed for this reason alone. Although common at present, the clearing of land for agriculture is reducing their range. Wombats are killed by poison such as '1080' used in baits intended to reduce rabbit or wallaby numbers. Dogs, indiscriminate shooters and vehicles also take their toll.

How you can help

* Contain dogs at night to prevent them roaming, particularly in areas where wombats are known to live.

* If wombats are causing damage to fences, heavy hinged gates can be installed which will allow wombats to push through but prevent less powerful animals from entering.

* Drive carefully in 'wombat country' -- apart from killing or injuring them, wombats can damage cars.

* Occasionally young wombats become orphaned and require nurturing. It is important that specialist advice is obtained on their rearing and release as they can become very boisterous if not treated correctly.

Please contact Peter Power from Wildlife Tasmania on 0417 017 105.

A Life Changing Christmas - Beverly Rubenach

Christmas can be the saddest of times, or the happiest of times.

Christmas can be a hurting time, or a healing time.

Christmas is a time when memories well up and overflow.

Curtains were hand-washed, carefully ironed (with those heavy, clumsy irons heated on the stove-top) and lovingly rehung. Amazingly, they had all withstood another year of this Christmas preparation. Should they have torn, there would be no replacement curtains hanging in the windows. The meager household income certainly didn't cater for new curtains. Therefore, these 'many year's old ones' had been handled ever so gently.

The last 'pin feather' was plucked from the butchered geese. What a painstaking task, sitting at the kitchen table for what seemed like an eternity, removing those half-hidden, unsightly, stubborn little "monsters" with tweezers. My dad took great pride in the geese he either gave away or sold at Christmas time. They had to look perfect, so wonderful in fact, they could have almost been eaten raw.

Furniture, riddled with the scratches and battering of at least two generations of farming families, had been polished with floor polishing wax. Firstly, that oily gummy stuff had covered all the surfaces, then it had been rubbed off again until not a trace remained. Everything gleamed and reflected the worker's smile (or frown) Furniture cleaning seemed such a waste of 'elbow grease' not to mention wasted time. Time that could have been spent wading in the cool mountain stream on a beautiful summery day—energy that could have been used playing chases with the farm dog. No matter! All these frantic preparations would only last a couple more days. I attacked those tasks and all my other 'getting ready for Christmas' work with vigour, touched with a hint of reluctance. Thankfully, soon the rewards would come.

Mum and Dad would smile at me proudly, hug me lovingly and praise me abundantly. I liked that, but the best reward for being "a good little girl" would manifest itself on Christmas morning. For months, I had voiced my heart's desire just in case Santa was already listening in. I wanted a bike.

Every year, for as long as I could remember, the 'desire of my heart' was waiting for me at the foot of my bed when I woke on Christmas morning. One year, there was even a doll—not just any ordinary doll—a state of the art doll. She had eyes that opened and closed, and she had hair. I must have been the best behaved 7 year old in the whole world to be so rewarded. In fact, I had proof of my goodness. My cousin, who lived at Cornwall, found a doll at the foot of her bed that same Christmas. Her doll had eyes that opened and closed, but her doll was bald-headed!

Then when I was 10 years old, a mystery occurred. Two of my cousins, living in different locations each got a bike for Christmas. A bike! The grandest of all presents – so grand that I had never ever thought of letting Santa know I was interested in one. But then again, he should have known without me having to voice it. My cousins hadn't put in any specific request that year and yet, a bike was dropped off at their homes. I thought I had better examine my year long behavior in case there was a problem.

Oh sure, there were numerous occasions when I had been a little brat-poking my tongue out at my mother (behind her back of course), stomping my feet and throwing just a bit of a tantrum when things didn't go quite as I had planned, and oh yes, there was one occasion when I received a stripe on my rear end from Dad's belt. That misdemeanor was so minor I could no longer remember what it was, so that didn't count as naughtiness.

All in all, I felt I'd been fairly good. In my estimation, the good out-weighed the naughtiness by miles. Anyway, one thing I knew for certain—I'd been a whole heap better than those two cousins who had got bikes!

Well, that was last Christmas. This was this Christmas. I was determined not to miss out on any bike handouts this year. Just to make absolutely certain, I did additional tasks—standing sweating over the hot wood stove stirring raspberry jam, churning cream that refused to turn into butter, and pushing (until my arms ached) lumpy icing through a rickety, almost worn out icing forcifer to decorate dozens of Christmas biscuits.

Finally, it was the day before Christmas Eve. My parents had dispensed the well earned hugs, smiles and thankyou's. "Now I know for certain, I'll get my bike on Christmas morning", I announced happily. Mum and Dad exchanged glances. Dad's blue eyes lost their usual sparkle. Mum's face turned ashen. "I knew you should have told her sooner," Dad muttered as he headed for the kitchen door, "I'm going to cut wood", he added, hastily departing.

Mum's countenance told me something was wrong. How could anything possibly go wrong so close to Christmas? "Come and sit on the verandah", Mum instructed quietly, then added ominously, "we need to talk".

There we sat. Me knowing I was about to hear something I didn't want to hear. Mum about to say something she didn't want to say.

"You're a big girl now - eleven years old. Most children know much younger, but I wanted your childish delight of Christmas to remain as long as possible," Mum began.

Soon we were both crying. The truth was out! It hurt! There would be no bike. Mum explained how she and Dad had scrimped and saved throughout the year, but to no avail. There simply wasn't enough money.

"You're such a good daughter, and we love you," Mum continued, trying to hug me. I pulled away. I wanted no hug. The words she was speaking now sounded empty and false. I had always totally trusted and believed everything my parents had ever told me. Now there was disillusionment. Now betrayal. How could I ever trust them again? What in life was truth? What in life was make-believe? How would I ever distinguish the difference? Soon resentment, anger and fear joined my already explosive emotions. I was crying over the hurt. Hurt that my parents I no longer trusted or believed.

I fled to my "comfort spot" high in the branches of the willow trees. After hours of solitude, I knew there was only one thing to do - pray.

My question time with God produced answers. Memories welled up and overflowed-Bible stories of God's love and forgiveness. The story of the very first Christmas when God the Father gave the world the gift of his Son Jesus, as a baby born in Bethlehem - the ultimate gift that allowed all wrong doers to be in a right relationship with God and people through love and forgiveness. Memories of all the wonderful, loving sacrificial things my parents had done for me during my eleven years. Memories of sad times, of happy times, but whatever the circumstances, we were family together.

Then came the challenge. What was I going to do about this Christmas? I could choose to make this Christmas the saddest of times or the happiest of times - a time of hurting or a time of healing.

I can't even remember what was at the foot of my bed on that eventful Christmas morning. I do remember it was the beginning of my emergence from childhood to adulthood. I remember it was a happy Christmas full of family reconciliation, love and forgiveness.

I've transgressed and regressed countless times since that Christmas long ago, especially in the areas of unforgiveness, and lack of love. This has caused division, hurt, strained relationships, loss of inner peace and diminished joyful living. Whenever these things occur, so do memories of an eleven year old girl's special Christmas. Along with those memories comes the same challenge I was confronted with 50 years ago. The choice is still mine. What sort of Christmas will I give my family? I want Christmas 2009 to be a time of accepting, practicing and celebrating forgiveness and unshakeable love.

What was at the foot of my bed Christmas morning when I was 12 years old? A bike! Was it a stat-of-the-art bike? No! it was a bike with some rust and lots of peeling-off paint. But it was love at first sight.

That bike and I were almost inseparable for many years. Then came a time when I heard of someone who longed whole-heartedly for a bike - a bike that a widowed mother could never afford to buy. That Christmas morning, that same bike was waiting at the foot of a bed. The recipient awoke. It was love at first sight!

BIG4 St Helens Holiday Park Takes Out Tasmanian Tourism Award

BIG4 St Helens Holiday Park was recently announced as winner of the 'Tourist and Caravan Parks' award at the 2009 Tasmanian Tourism Awards for the second consecutive year.

BIG4 St Helens Holiday Park is located just ten kilometres from the Bay of Fires, named by influential tourism publisher, Lonely Planet, as the world's best travel destination, and is enjoyed by more than 15,000 guests each year.

The Walls family, together with park managers Robyn and Ian Pearce attended the Gala Presentation Dinner and said they were thrilled to win the award.

"We strive to exceed our guests' expectations to ensure they enjoy a first class holiday experience. We are extremely proud our hard work has been recognised two years in a row," Allan Walls said.

Terry Goodall, CEO, BIG4 Holiday Parks was delighted that BIG4 St Helens Holiday Park was recognised as the leading Tourist and Caravan Park in Tasmania.

"BIG4 St Helens Holiday Park works exceptionally hard to maintain the level of standard that guests expect of a BIG4 Holiday Park, and tourism awards provide well-deserved recognition for all tourism operators. We're proud they wear the BIG4 name," says Terry.

BIG4 St Helens Holiday Park is no stranger to awards; it recently received the "Most Improved Park Award" at BIG4's National Conference, and it also received a Chamber of Commerce Business Excellence Award earlier this year.

The now 4 ½ star Holiday Park boasts facilities including a large recreation, games and TV room complete with table tennis and arcade games, as well as one of Australia's best camp kitchens and a giant jumping pillow for the kids.

The park has accommodation options to suit all tastes and budgets, including the recently installed Bay of Fires Apartments which provide guests with picturesque views of the valley and their own private balconies.

"We have also just installed brand new ensuite sites that include a shower, toilet and hand basin, which are proving to be the perfect option for our visitors who like to bring their own caravan or motorhome but still want the convenience of onsite amenities," adds Robyn Pearce.

The Tasmanian Tourism Awards represent an industry framework for peer recognition which fosters a culture for business development excellence and innovation. BIG4 St Helens Holiday Park is now in the running to take out the National Tourism Award to be held on Friday 26 February 2010.

BIG4 St Helens Holiday Park is located at 2 Penelope Street in St Helens.

Marakoopa Caves

On Wednesday 9th December 2009 the whole of Fingal Primary School Students travelled to Mole Creek to visit the Marakoopa Caves. After a long bus trip down we had recess and then split into two groups to go off exploring the caves. The children learnt about stalactites and stalagmites, and we were all fascinated with the glow worms. WE stopped at Deloraine Train Park for lunch before the long trip back home.

Carley Baldwin and Taylah Munro.

Thomas Gee, Breeana Francis, Lauren Templar-Kunta and Mackenzie Woods.

Grace Gee, Mrs Stanford, Jayden Bosworth, Jayden Brown and Aaron Rush.

Ashleigh Templar and Sharnee Casserly.

Dear Parents and Community Members

Update on the school Federation.

At the meeting it was decided that there would be a process to follow.

- That we would work towards one governance model that will give each Community equal representation.
- A Steering committee was formed to create a new constitution which will Continue in 2010 with the view of a single association for 2011.

The option for next years Grade 6 was taken to this years Grade 5 parents for a decision on which school campus they would like to attend.

It was decided by the parents that Grade 6 will remain at the Fingal campus for 2010.

It was also decided that once we form the new Association in 2011 that each campus Would still have there own separate sub committee members to deal with the local Fundraising and local matters e.g. school lunches and catering.

The structure of the school for 2010 should be much the same as 2009.

Yours sincerely
Fingal School Association

Guess what ? It hasn't rained for two weeks and we have actually got to use the facilities. Amazing.

First to bowls and the club has recorded two very big wins, to again be back in the 2009/10 pennant race. Our premiership ladies team is also doing exceptionally well also.

Despite being short of players most weeks the men's team is beginning to gel really well and provided we do get all the players back after the Christmas/New Year break we should be a force to be reckoned with at finals time again. We have unfinished business after last years final. Don't we.

The ladies likewise would love to win back to back titles and have a great chance to do so.

Don't forget our special Annual Clive Berwick Memorial Triples on December 27th so get your teams together very soon for that terrific day. Thanks especially to Pauline and Drew Berwick for their incredible support of this event each year.

Well done to a great crew of golfers who supported the recent two person Ambrose and congrats to Barry and Kirk who won the main prize. With a home bowls pennant match and a nice field of golfers as well it reminds us of the good old days when this happened every week. Now that bowls is on the break over Christmas there is a chance for golf to continue strongly also.

Club president Jim Turner wishes all the members a very safe and happy holiday period and welcomes you along to the club during this time.

The club thanks greatly the Valley Voice for allowing us the space each fortnight to get the news out and to everyone at the Voice we really appreciate this fabulous support to the club.

Until next time, good hitting and rolling.
