

Celebrating St Marys Sesquicentenary Year

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!! VALLEY VOICE.

by Geoffrey Dean (ex-co-editor)

When Judy Spilsbury rang me towards the end of October in 2006, and told me that the Valley and East Coast Voice had continued on without break since I and my family had left St Marys back in the early 1970s, I was gob-smacked.

That night back in 1968, when Dorothy Simpson, Ada Gerie and Sandra Young from the local hospital went up to 'Seaview' for dinner with my family, the possibility of starting up a small local paper was the main topic to be discussed around the dinner table.

Such a paper would be a central point for the comments and news of the district, we thought. We could give it a go - a kind of experiment to see how such a local newsheet would go down with the locals. Our decision fueled with, I remember, some very good wine.

Well, that first run, we optimistically printed four hundred and fifty copies, turned out on my old typewriter and a borrowed Gestetner, most of which were gone by lunchtime the following day.

Our rash experiment had well and truly paid off. We were stuck, and whether we liked it or not, we were obliged to carry it on until we left the district.

And, I might add, not one of us could have envisaged that 40 years later 'that little old rag' as we used to call it, would still be going.

Congratulations to all those dedicated people who were involved in it during those years.

*Geoffrey Dean,
one of the co-founders of this community paper.*

Recollections of the birth of the Valley Voice by Mary Targett

In early 1968 while I was working at the St Marys District Hospital, I was asked by Matron Simpson if I would help out with the typing of a local newspaper that she and her friends, Yvonne Whittaker (Clinic Sister) Geoff & Betty Dean (Sea View) and I think Ada Gerrie and Sandra Young (Nursing Sisters) were embarking on.

On the evening of May 2, 1968, we gathered in the Children's Ward of our hospital, (obviously no patients) and proceeded to create our first edition.

The latest technology was used, Gestetner, (copying machine) waxed stencils on which the typing was done, typewriter from the hospital office, and many bottles of pink correction fluid, which had an aroma about it quite fitting for a hospital.

Mary Targett, involved in this paper since its inception.

The ward was abuzz with activity, and lots of laughter, courtesy of the green ginger wine, which was enjoyed by all.

This continued into the wee small hours of the next morning, when finally our first issue was ready for delivery to the outlets. Some of us managed a few hours sleep, others not so lucky, before heading off to our regular jobs.

Obviously we couldn't continue from the Children's Ward, so we moved to the Recreation Room of the Nurses Quarters, where the table tennis table was put to good use.

This facility was used for several years, before the move to our present premises.

In conclusion I would like to say we have come a long way thanks to the many volunteers we have had over the past 40 years.

Many thanks to our Editors of recent years: the late Ron Sumner, Audrey Wright and Judy Spilsbury, who have made a huge difference to the quality of our paper.

EDITORIAL

When I first thought of doing a souvenir edition of the Valley Voice for our 40th birthday I never envisaged what a task I would be taking on. To say I had 'bitten off more than I could chew', was an understatement. Just finding a starting point was the first headache. So much has happened in the last 40 years, that you don't know where to start.

I know we have had lots of tragedies and triumphs, but I decided to go with a mostly lighthearted, pictorial view of life in St Marys. I have had tremendous support from a lot of people, who have supplied me with photographs, stories, advice, encouragement, and most of all naming all the football photographs. That was, indeed a job in itself, as almost all the photos I have had access to were not named. Consequently, if we have any names wrong, I do apologise.

All the names listed below are of people who have volunteered their time over the forty years to help produce this community paper. It goes without saying that an edition would not be achieved without plenty of help, and to all those listed, and those whom we have missed, thank you.

Sometimes St Marys has struggled to stay afloat, but we have, and I think we are doing very well. We don't have the increased population and business that has evolved on the coast, but this is still a lovely place to live. This is probably proven by the influx of new residents now living here from all parts of Australia. We must have something going for us.

As always it's the people who give a township it's personality, and we have had many characters larger than life, contributing to all aspects of small town life, and it's always been said, 'if you want something done, ask a busy person'.

I have tried to cover a variety of events such as sporting achievements, awards, accolades, service clubs etc., but there is no way you can mention everything in 50 plus pages.

I do hope you enjoy this publication. It was put together with a lot of work, but I gained a lot of pleasure from doing it. Thank you to all who helped with this special edition and to all the contributors, distributors, advertisers, volunteers and consumers. Without all of you we would not have survived for 40 years, to celebrate this milestone in the Valley Voice's history.

The very first edition, Vol 1, No 1, was published on May 3, 1968, and is reprinted in this souvenir edition. It had to be realigned to fit the size of today's paper, as the first few years were produced in foolscap size. Times and technology have changed dramatically in the last few years, and when I print this paper now, I think back to the first years, and how hard it was to type and print on the old Gestetner machines, by cranking a handle for hours on end. Life has certainly changed for the better as far as printing goes, and it is certainly much easier with the computers and printers of today's quality.

Having said that, it still needs volunteers, and to all those who still help from years ago, and to all the newcomers, thank you very much indeed. Your time and services are very much appreciated.

Judy Spilsbury.
Editor.

(Apologies to any volunteers whose names we have missed.)

THE BEGINNING OF A VOICE: by Jim Haas

In 1968 the Vietnam War was in full swing, Lyndon Johnson was President of the United States, John Gorton was Prime Minister of Australia, Martin Luther King and Robert F. Kennedy were assassinated, Saddam Hussein gained power in Iraq, NASA launched the first manned space ship Apollo 7, the Olympics were held in Mexico City, the Fingal Valley was in a state of drought, and the Valley Voice was launched in St Marys.

The first edition came out on the 3rd of May with an Editorial written by Geoff Dean of Seaview Farm, part of which went on to say: “.....The purpose of this paper is to serve our community. We believe there is a necessity for a local news reporting and comment medium in this district. Mainly it is intended to be a communication between what is happening and what should be happening in this valley. It is to be a liaison between those who do and those who want to know. The aim is to be factual in news reporting, critical in out look, and constructive in suggestion.

“At times it will be difficult not to be unbiased and if this human error creeps in, we will welcome you, the reader’s, opinion. To be successful it will need public acceptance and sympathy for its birth pains....”

On page three we learned that Miss Teena Quest entrant, Patsy Targett, was holding a concert in Royle’s Theatre (Todds Hall). Performers will include John Laing, winner of Brian & the Juniors Talent Quest, Danny and Dudley Madden and some fine local talent, which includes a hilarious, locally made, short film.

The back page of the newly launched paper told how the St Marys Football Team was enjoying a good year at the top of the FDFA ladder with a young side of only an average age of 21. Players doing well were: Ron McCarty, Chester Bullock, Terry Haas, Keith Mason, Don Birrell, Trevor Viney, Tony Cook, and Ashley Stone at fullback is drop kicking the ball a country mile.

St Marys and indeed the greater Break O’Day Community should truly thank Geoff Dean and his small band of helpers, all of whom gave up their time and showed immense initiative to put a paper together that had the quality to grab the interest of the people and grow from strength to strength to fulfill the dreams of the paper’s pioneers.

Whilst Geoff moved on to bigger literacy achievements with his writing of several books, the Valley Voice has continued on with a strong group of dedicated volunteers, some of whom like Mary Targett, Audrey Wright and Judy Spilsbury have been there from the beginning and still work tirelessly to ensure the paper hits the stands every second Thursday.

But the paper is nothing without the community; the business people who advertise, the community groups who tell us what’s happening and of cause the general public who send in their articles and photos, all of which gives the paper variety and interest. Letters to the Editor is a place where people can express their views and opinions and whilst this can sometimes create confrontation, it is important the views of the community are brought out in the open and aired to enable us to move on.

Going on 40 years is a wonderful achievement for a community paper and while other towns in our area have produced papers that have come and gone, the Voice has stood the test of time. Now it is bigger and better than ever and with the diverse range of people with a variety of talents second to none living in the Break O’Day Plains, the skies the limit for our local rag.

In the first edition of Valley Voice a letter to the editor was written by well respected local identity and business woman Ruth Gill. Part of it read; “.....My congratulations on your first edition of Valley Voice. May it prosper and give the citizens of this Valley a chance to express their hopes and opinions on what can be done in this very much neglected area.....”

Ruth, God rest your soul, the paper has prospered, it is still giving citizens a chance to have their say and one could argue that the area is not quite as neglected as it was in 1968.

Letter to the Editor

The Editor,
The Valley and East Coast Voice.

Dear Friends,

My attention has been drawn to the fact that this amazing local newspaper is about to celebrate its 40th birthday.

Thirty nine years of continuous production and circulation by volunteers is a remarkable achievement.

Congratulations! Praise and thanks must go to all who have contributed to this excellent community service.

The area covered and concerned is sizeable, significant and scattered. This fortnightly publication has drawn residents into an extended and extensive family of genuine community interest.

For 30 years, as Legislative Council Member for Macquarie, I valued receiving the V. & E.C.V. Indeed, I felt continually "in touch" with and part of the spirit of endeavour which constantly drives this community forward.

To "understand", "belong", and "share" are essential elements of life. Your paper enables by providing this regular forum for information, ideas, news, advertising, and comment, covering every aspect of community life.

Well done! The V. & E.C.V. is an essential icon in the area. Its real value can not be assessed in dollars and cents. Its purpose and presence provides a service in all seasons, in times of adversity, prosperity and celebration and must continue indefinitely.

Again congratulations for achieving this celebratory milestone.

Best wished for the future.

George and Joyce Shaw.

Editor's note:

For those who are younger and may not be aware.

George Shaw was elected to the Division of Macquarie in the Legislative Council in May 1968, and retired in May 1998.

He has held almost every position in the Upper House of Parliament during that time, including President 1988 –1992.

Soon after his retirement, the Governor of Tasmania, following a request by Premier Jim Bacon, issued a Gazette Notice that George retain the title "Honourable" for life.

On Australia Day 2007, The Governor General of Australia announced that George would receive The Medal of the Order of Australia (OAM) "for service to the Tasmanian Parliament and to the community through church, service, aged care and sporting organisations."

The Say by Cagerattler

Our area is in the lucky and unique position to enjoy the privilege of being able to communicate, and get the news around the community through our fortnightly periodical we know as the Valley and East Coast Voice. This paper has now reached a very special anniversary, which adds up to 40 years of vibrant, efficient and dedicated service to the community.

It truly is OUR COMMUNITY PAPER. It allows anyone who wants to contribute, the chance to be a part of it all, by doing reports on group activities, writing interesting articles, getting things off their chests, or putting out their business services. And then there are the classifieds.

The amazing thing above all else for me is that over the past four decades, the lifeblood and heartbeat of the Valley Voice is its loyal band of volunteers, who produce, print and distribute this valuable tool, without benefiting personally, a single cent. Their only reward for the considerable time and effort needed to get each issue out is that it means so much to all of us residents, and the work they do is genuinely appreciated.

I suspect just about every household glances through the Voice when it comes out. You must get your copy of the Valley Voice. That's a given requirement for just about all of us. Not only for us here of course, but several ex-pat residents have their copies sent all over the place, so they can keep in touch with our 'goings-on'.

Throughout its existence this little paper has become testimonially an integral part of our lives here, and around the valley.

Best wishes and congratulations from a grateful member and indulgent contributor of a few lines here and there. Forty years. What about fifty, then sixty, and maybe even seventy? Let's hope so.

What do you think?

THE REASON WHY

The purpose of this paper is to serve a community. The participants believe there is a necessity for a local news reporting and comment medium in this district.

They believe there are many purposes such a news-sheet can perform. Mainly it is intended to be a communication between, what is happening and what should be happening in this valley. It is to be a liason between those who do and those who want to know about it. The aim is to be factual in news reporting, critical in out-look and constructive in suggestion.

At times it will be difficult not to be unbiased and if this human error creeps in, we will welcome your; the readers, opinion.

To be successful it will need public acceptance, eventually and public sympathy for its birth pains. To cover costs of production it will be charged and it is hoped advertising fees will add a small profit for future expansion.

If you like it, buy it. If you don't like it, don't tell others, tell us what is wrong.

TOUCHE' COLUMN

A Question from a traveller:

"Look," he said, "I over heard in St. Marys last week that cries of drought from some farmers in the valley only damages the districts image." He asked, "what image - image to whom?" Is it an image of unlimited greenery?" "Can't be. A drive through here last February would prove that. Perhaps it is the image that no matter what happens, the district doesn't scream?" "Perhaps that's what it is?"

"If so, God help us if we get an earth quake."

(We said; under our breaths)

Scamander Motel has seen some up and downs during its short history. Mostly under temporary management. Until some permanent arrangement is made we will reserve judgement.

Two Governmental cars met on the middle of Break-O-Day Bridge this week. Quees what? One belonged to the Road Safety Council of Tasmania.

HERITAGE CORNER

How St. Marys was Named

Francis Groom arrived in Tasmania from England in 1827 and settled on the Break-O-Day River and named his property Harefield after his native town, Harefield, in England. The church in Harefield, England is called St. Marys and after this he named the settlement near his property.

It is of interest that during the 1914-18 War there was an Australian Hospital in Harefield, England and an Australian War Cemetery in the Churchyard of St. Marys. Each year a representative from Australia House lays a wreath in this cemetery on Anzac Day.

ADULT EDUCATION STUDY WEEKEND

On 26-27 April last, the Child Health Association, in conjunction with the Adult Education Board, held a week-end school at St. Marys. The school was conducted by Mrs. Mollie Campbell-Smith B.Sc. who lectured on Human Relations and other related subjects. Mrs. Campbell-Smith is also a Marriage Guidance Councillor.

On Friday night 26th, Mrs. Campbell-Smith spoke of the need for unity and involvement by all in the Valley. She said there was no need for a dwindling population to become apathetic or depressed. She invited general discussion on these subjects and this was eagerly embarked upon by the some sixty people present.

On the following morning Mrs. Campbell-Smith spoke on Parent-Child Relationships, Sex and the Child, Emotional Involvement etc.

This talk was accompanied by films and general discussion again. Everyone present agreed that all lectures had been most informative and Mrs. Campbell-Smiths charming personality captivated all.

This is the first time the Adult Education Board has held a week-end school in St. Marys and it is hoped the experience will be repeated.

HEALTH NOTES - FEAR OF DOGS

What can be done to help a youngster who is afraid of dogs? This happens quite often when a child has been frightened by a dog while very young.

If a child shows fear at sight of a dog, it's quite wrong to try to urge the youngster to become friendly with the 'nice doggie'. The more you do this, the more likely he is to hold back.

Instead, reassure the child by acknowledging to him that it's natural for 'small' children to be afraid of 'big' dogs, and let him see that there's no need to be ashamed of this.

You can interest him indirectly, too, by telling him stories about pet dogs or let him see one of the many 'doggie' TV shows. Give him a toy dog to play with, or you might even go so far as to buy him a puppy and encourage him to help prepare his food so that he will feel that he is playing a part in his life.

Many children fear dogs and quite a number don't lose their fear until they reach school age, or later - particularly if unwise adult handling has made their fears worse. Well-meant 'coaxing' attempts may be harmful and being told to 'look after the dog' may be too great a responsibility for a nervous child.

Some sort of balance has to be struck so that the child neither cowers in fear at sight of a dog, or runs up to every dog he sees to hug or pat it. Usually, though, the child will work it all out quite satisfactorily for himself. Naturally, if it begins to be a 'phobia' with him, then medical help must be sought quickly.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir,

My congratulations on your first edition of the "Valley Voice". May it prosper and give the citizens of this Valley a chance to express their hopes and opinions on what can be done in this very neglected area.

A start is a much needed dressing up by the Public Works Dept. of that vacant block which is the most prominent corner in our district. This is the gate-way to St. Helens and Swansea and passed each year by thousands of tourists and locals who can glimpse over the piles of rotting rubbish and fine view of our Community Hall framed through the rusted bottomless sanitary pan that nestles among the debris.

Couldn't this block have a lawn - seats and perhaps a tree to allow our elderly citizens and tourists awaiting buses etc. to rest.

Many times I have seen and talked to tourists squatting on the steps of our Community Centre and even on the edges of our pavements, awaiting buses. These people should have some consideration.

Finally, what about a public convenience.

Ruth Gill.

FOOTY NOTES

BY OBSERVER

Interest is high in St. Marys after two good wins by the senior team against Avoca and Fingal respectively. Both these successes have been full of merit and supporters are now awaiting the clash with last years Premiers Rossarden in order to assess the teams chances for 1968. Players from last years Premiership Reserves team, R. McCarty, C. Bullock, T. Haas, K. Mason and D. Williams are all making their presence felt in the senior ranks this season. Other players in mid season form at present include D. Birrell roving, T. Cooke centre, A. Stone, full back, and Trevor Viney centre half forward. The side is quite young, the average age being approx. 21.

Fingal, although well beaten by St. Marys last week are looking forward to a successful season. Their win, after being 5 goals down at the last change against St. Helens, was a good start to the season, and a much better guide to their prospects. New coach Rex Anderson and ex Victorian Bill Kelly are both brilliant players and opposition teams will find them hard to counter as the season progresses. Last years Coach J. Baldwin is proving a reliable defender and looks set for a good season. Others doing well at present are N. Webb, Clements, Parker & C. Youl. Fingal's clash with Rossarden this week is vital to them, as a win or a narrow defeat will prove their form against St. Marys all wrong.

Of the other teams Rossarden again appears the team to beat, although Swansea have commenced the year in grand fashion and will again be strong contenders for the flag. A good guide to St. Helens chances will be their game with Swansea on Saturday, whilst Avoca and Mathinna, who both have yet to win a game are opposed at Mathinna.

It is also pleasing to note that Fingal, St. Marys and Rossarden are fielding thirds teams, which enables the boys to play more competitive football.

“THE QUEEN OF CORNWALL”
UNA 1914 – 2006

Una Amy Herbert came to Cornwall as a young 18 year old school teacher in 1933. She immediately became involved in the community by joining the committee formed to build a new community hall to replace the one which was burnt down in 1930.

Initially, Una’s time at Cornwall was to be rather short lived, but another new comer in Ron “Yorkie” Camplin had just arrived in town from Yorkshire, England to work in the coalmines. Ron too, joined the hall committee and in no time he and Una were in love, and in 1936 when the new hall was completed, the first kitchen tea to be held in the hall was for Una and Ron. They were married on the 28th December 1936.

Ron and Una had five children, but that did not stop them from working for their community; whether it was sport, raising money for their beloved Anglican Church, Red Cross Comfort Fund during the Second World War, St.Marys Hospital and many other community projects.

But, sadly, Ron died in 1965 leaving Una alone, but Una still loved her community and continued her involvement with positions such as Librarian, Sunday school teacher, Church organist, Secretary for Child Health, Chairperson for Fingal Valley Welfare Society and long time member of Mothers Union. She also worked on many committees including: establishing units for the elderly, Meals on Wheels, Golden Years, and indoor bowls and in 1993 she was recognised with an award for her services to the community and later received a Break O’ Day Council Citizen of the Year Award.

Una was almost eighty at that time and, you would have thought, ready to wind down. But no, she still had to fulfill her long time dream to build a wall that would recognise the pioneers of the coal industry and not only preserve the industry’s heritage but enhance the town in which she had spent most of her life.

There was no other place in the world for Una but Cornwall. She loved the town its people and its history. To be in her modest cottage in Alexander St., surrounded by her family and friends, cooking dinner in her humble kitchen for anyone who cared to join and tending her beautiful garden was all the reward she asked for in life.

I wonder if John Herbert, in 1787, who at the age of seventeen found himself on board one of the First Fleet ships “Scarborough” on his way to Australia for seven years transportation for stealing a handkerchief, would have ever envisaged being the Great Grandfather of such a grand lady who in her magnificent way gave a lifetime to, not only rearing a family, but working, fighting and inspiring a community to achieve what many said was impossible.

The opening of the Coalminers Heritage Wall at Cornwall on the 4th February 2006 was a fulfillment of her long time dream, and whilst the wall displays some twelve hundred names of our brave, determined, hard working pioneers, one name, that of Una Camplin, will always stand out, and the memory of “The Queen of Cornwall” will live on for ever and give encouragement to those who are left, to never give up the fight for what you love and believe in.

Distinguished Medals to St Marys Neighbours

Mrs Kathleen Cooper, being awarded her BEM by Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, at Government House.

Mrs Amy Jarvis.

Two of the best known volunteers, worked tirelessly for many years on various committees in St Marys. They were recognized for their charitable efforts by being awarded British Medals.

Some committees they were recognized for are as follows: St Marys Hospital, St Marys Branch Red Cross, Returned Services League, (mens / ladies committees) St Marys Football Club, and the Child Health Clinic.

Mrs Amy Jarvis was awarded the “Member Of The British Empire Medal” by the Governor of Tasmania at Government House.

Mrs Kathleen Cooper was awarded “The Most Excellent Order of The British Empire” by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II at Government House.

It is most unusual for two people in a small town to be awarded such distinction, and even more so, being next door neighbours. This is something St Marys can look back on with pride.

Their names now appear on an Honour Board in a London Cathedral.

There have been many citizens of St Marys who, over many years have worked tirelessly for the community. Pictured above are the late Keith and Doris Bullock, (left) and Jean Schier, (right) who still resides at Falmouth. All of whom have been on all the committees you can think of. Always ready to lend a hand wherever needed.

All communities need volunteers, and our own small town is no exception. So if you find yourself with time on your hands, why not find a niche for yourself with an organisation who will welcome you with open arms. Volunteering has many rewards, not just making yourself feel good by doing something for the community, but also doing something for all those who will benefit from your help.

Order of Australia Medals to St Marys Locals

Local resident Len Miles of St Marys, received an Order of Australia Medal in the 1997 Queen's Birthday Honours list.

Break O'Day Mayor of that year, Robert Legge, presented Mr Miles with his award at a 'Celebrate Tasmania' firework display and bonfire at the Scamander River reserve. Mayor Legge described Mr Miles as a man who had worked tirelessly for the community over many years, without ever seeking recognition.

A member of the St Marys Health Forum, Mr Miles was part of the unsuccessful campaign waged by the St Marys community against the closure of its hospital. (Which later reopened with a change of government.) Mr Miles said he would continue to work for the community as long as he was able.

House of Representatives Speaker, Michael Polley said that hearing of Mr Miles's award was "wonderful news". "Len has been involved in the Miner's Federation as President and as an official for over 25 years, but this is an even more fitting award than his national one," he said. "He's also been involved with the St Marys Football Club and the voluntary service of the ambulance for years." "Len Miles is a good bloke."

As well as working for the trade union movement and volunteering as an ambulance driver, Len has been involved with both St Marys Football Club and the Fingal District Football Association as a delegate, President and Vice President, St Marys Parents and Friends, Red Cross, Lions Club of St Marys, St Marys Hospital Support Group, and St Marys Hospital Home and Community Care.

Len also represented Australia at the World Trade Union Congress in Moscow in 1985.

Len Miles, awarded an OAM in 1998.

Kevin Faulkner, awarded an OAM in 2001.

Community involvement does bring rewards even though not expected.

Another local resident Kevin Faulkner also received an Order of Australia Medal in 2001.

To support ones community in which they live, is not done for any reward other than the satisfaction of knowing that their efforts helped to bind the community of which they belong, and result in a smile from someone who maybe, has been helped.

But sometimes someone does recognise this effort, as was the case with Kevin Faulkner who in 2001 was awarded an OAM, as cited in the award, "For service, through business, social support and sporting organisations", which added to an "Australia Day Medal" award in 1988 and an "Australia Day Citizen Award" in 2001.

Motto "One does not give, expecting to receive".

Kevin has been a member of several clubs and committees, and some of the past and present involvements are:

Lions Club of St Marys, Break O'Day Councillor, Social Security Department, Social Welfare, Red Cross Ambulance, St Marys Rural Fire Brigade, St Marys Football Club, St Marys Tennis club, Hospital Auxiliary, Justice of the Peace, Hospital Board Member, Health Forum, East Coast Tourism Council, Parents and Friends, Town Streetscape Committee, St Marys Chamber of Commerce, Hospital Support Group.

Both these citizens of St Marys are still very active with their community work. Congratulations to you both.

St Marys Community Health Centre Day care

The St Marys Day Centre is situated onsite at the St Marys Community Health Centre.

They meet every Wednesday from 10am—3pm, and the group is offered a variety of crafts, outings, cooking, guest presenters and social interaction experiences.

The group is open to all members of the community, but with a focus especially on daily respite.

Hayley Gilbert, The Centre's Diversional Therapist, has been the coordinator of the group for the last 8 years.

Hayley has a number of volunteers, who support the group and its weekly activities, and she wishes to thank all of you who help and support her role.

If you would like any information about the group, or would like to participate, please phone Hayley on 6372 2111. They are a friendly welcoming group, who love to see new faces.

Wombat Walk Weeders

This small group of volunteers work each Wednesday morning at Wombat Walk, along the St Marys Rivulet in the centre of town, landscaping, weeding, planting and water monitoring.

The Group takes part in National Tree Planting day each year, and has also entered Tidy Towns Competitions and won several awards in recognition of the work being done.

The Wombat Walk workers are hopeful that the pathway along Wombat Walk can be given a 'maintenance free' surface to save the constant chipping of weeds from the present gravel path, and also envisage a bridge to link the picnic area with the playground and toilets.

In the five years that this group has been working, numbers have remained at about five, or seven at the most, but those who do turn up, find that their efforts are rewarded with what has been achieved, and consider it of benefit to the town of St Marys.

2007 Young Achiever Awards

The Prestigious Gala Awards Presentation Dinner held at Wrest Point Casino on the 14th April was attended by more than 400 guests, to hear the announcement of winners from over 130 nominations, in the eight category Southern Cross Young Achiever Awards 2007.

Pete was told he was doing great things, and is a fine role model and inspiration to other young people

He has worked hard with his career in music, which has taken him around Australia, to the UK and the USA.

After the fires in December 2006, the volunteer fire brigade received many accolades.

THANK YOU

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my parents, grandparents, brother, relatives and friends, my committee, and last but not least the wonderfully generous people of St Marys and the East Coast area for the support given to me over the last six months of fund raising for the multiply handicapped children and adults of Tasmania.

Having worked for these months, I now have a better understanding of just how much money is actually needed to continue caring for the handicapped.

Multicap Heights is a credit to the corporation, and with continued support from the Tasmanian public, can only continue on to bigger and better things.

I have much pleasure in announcing the amount raised by my committee reached a grand total of $9398.36. I consider this a fantastic amount considering the population, and it was most gratifying to see exactly how generous people can be.

To all those who helped in any way, whether attending functions, cooking for functions or simply purchasing a raffle ticket, I would like to say a sincere thank you.

Felicity Spilsbury.

Winter Solstice

A brief history of the Winter Solstice.

by Eo Greensticks.

In the year 2000, it was a Dragon Year in the Chinese calendar. A way to make a Fire Dragon Puppet sprang into my mind all unbidden.

Discussing this with Ellie Titree, who was then resident in the area, it came to light that she had once been a Fire Breather with the Circus. She said that if I would make the Fire Dragon Puppet, she would breath fire and we could put on a Winter Solstice Celebration, with a Lantern Parade in St Marys.

So we did! It seems like lifetimes ago now, but somehow we rounded up a few Fire Twirlers and some Fire Drums, and Grassy Bottom Regional Arts sponsored the event.

We spent 2 weeks making lanterns in the Town Hall, and a crowd of about 300 turned up on Faulkner's Green. We were happy to see people from all sectors of the community, clustered elbow to elbow around the fires, brought together by the common human need for warmth in the cold of winter and to celebrate, as humans have since time began, the wonder of fire and light on the longest, darkest night of the year.

somehow, when they were all lighted up and carried in procession through the night, they made a quantum leap, and I caught my breath to see them appear over the edge of the green.

Everywhere there were happy faces lighted up by the lantern glow, and we counted the night a huge success.

The Winter Solstice was a 'baby' then, and my how it has grown!. Now in its 8th year, we expect a crowd of perhaps 1000 or more.

The Lantern Parade was (and still is) truly a thing of great beauty. Even though I had helped build most of the lanterns in the parade,

With a larger crowd each year, we eventually changed sites, to the Recreation Ground, and added Fireworks to the menu.

We have featured the Chinese Astrological animal each year and have been through Dragon, Snake, Goat, Horse, Monkey, Rooster, Dog and now we are in the year of the Pig, and are putting together our 8th Fire Spectacular, 'Pigs Might Fly' as I write.

In the persistent attempt to make things fly, we have been hard at work using applied physics and rocket science, burning things up in the parking lot, and sometimes the kitchen, and slowly progressing towards what we hope will be the advanced prototype of the Flying Pig, a hybrid hot air inflatable, 3 of which we hope to see rise gracefully into the atmosphere on the 16th June.

Along with a host of Dancers, Circus Performers, Flouro and real Fire Twirlers, Music, Shadow Puppets, Fire Sculptures, a Lantern Parade and of course the Fireworks (which keeps us on our toes trying to raise funds) we think this will be a great year.

In European tradition, Winter Solstice is essentially the Christmas/New Year Celebration, a festival to cheer people up and warm their hearts in the middle of deep, cold northern winters.

Here in the southern hemisphere, where Christmas falls mid-summer (the Summer Solstice) and Easter, a Spring Festival, happens in Autumn, things get a little bit mixed up.

The Winter Solstice is an attempt at seasonally appropriate celebration here where we are – and besides, it seems that if you burn some stuff up on the end of a stick, everyone turns out to watch, because fire is an element which is pivotal to the development of human culture, and a timeless fascination for people of all ages.

This is a story of 49 years of racing as told by Eric Bean.

How long have you been Secretary, and who did you take over from?

“I took over from Jack Spilsbury and Charles Semmens, as temporary secretary, forty seven years ago. I served on the committee for two years before this. So it’s 49 years now.”

What changes have been made?

“Early days we ran trots and gallops together. It was hard to get fields those times. We had to do away with gallops and have run just trotting since 1960. Stake money in January 1961 was £355.0.0. Six races were held. This year, 2007, the stake money was $57,000.00 and nine races were held.”

Over the years the name has changed. Can you tell me a little about that?

“Yes. The last gallops were held in March 1960. The name changed from the Hack and Trotting Club to Trotting Club in 1962. The last March meeting was held in 1962. One gallop was run on our Centenary Day, 1986. The name changed again from Trotting Club to Pacing Club in 1989. The Club became incorporated in 1992.”

How many times in the last 47 years have the races had to be cancelled due to weather?

“In 47 years of racing, we have only had to abandon the entire day due to weather conditions, three times.”

Have you had any bad accidents or falls during that time?

“Gratefully no fatalities or serious injuries during that time.”

Assembling prior to racing. 2000.

What are your favourite memories?

“Our Centenary year in 1986 was a great meeting with the appearance of Melbourne Cup winner, Piping Lane. A pipe band played to a record attendance. Also New Year’s Eve 2005, with eight races and record starters, and January 1st, 2007 with nine races again, record starting fields and stake money.”

Do you have many long serving members?

“Tom Spencer served the club for many years as a committee man, chairman and patron, and was an energetic member. Keith Bullock served the club as Treasurer for about thirty five years, attending meetings at eighty nine years of age. A great worker. His wife Doris, also assisted the ladies with luncheons and other functions for many, many years.” The four longest serving members have a total of 170 years of combined service to the club.”

What horses have you yourself trained, and have you had any success?

Over the years I have had a few decent horses, and lots of brumbies! I could not have lasted this long in the club without the wonderful help of my wife Claire, my family members, and a great committee, plus all of the terrific assistance we get from all of our volunteers.”

Do you have any last words you would like to add?

I wish to, on behalf of our club, congratulate the people who have given their time, and I imagine there are a lot of them, for their efforts in keeping our local Valley Voice paper going for 40 years.

Congratulations to all, past and present, for a job well done.

The St Marys Sports Centre Inc. wishes to convey to the Valley Voice our congratulations and thanks for 40 years invaluable service to the community.

As the photos on these pages show, there have been quite a few successful teams and events highlighted by the paper over that time.

Some of the members are no longer with us but they are never forgotten, including Ruth Gill, Frank and Grace Singline, the irrepressible Peter Lohrey, Clive Berwick and Craig Mitchell. Fantastic people all.

Many others are still an integral part of the club, or are involved at other golf and bowls clubs, enjoying their sports to this day.

The club is proud to be a part of these special pages, as a long time contributor to the Valley Voice.

Lions Club of St Marys

The birth of "St Marys Lions Club"

by Kevin Faulkner

Our local Lions club was born as a result of three men talking socially on the evening of 20th August 1975. The topic of the lack of a Service Club or similar organisation in our town came to the fore, which became more significant than just a passing comment.

As a result, a list of names was formulated and a meeting held at "Tas Yates's Hotel", at which it was decided that a "Lions Club" be formed.

Official "Formation" occurred on Mon 15th Dec 1975.

Much work over a short period of time culminated in a massive formal dinner in the Town Hall on Saturday 28th February 1976, whereby 192 people from across the length and breadth of our state and continent, witnessed the Charter of our Club, on Installation night with 37 enthusiastic members named as follows:

Dale Wright, [Pres] Clive Berwick, Max Britton, Denzil Casboul, Trevor Clarke, Doug Cornelius, Bill Dickson, Kevin Dobson, Des Faulkner, Kevin Faulkner, John Ferrier, Brian Forsythe, Jim Haas, David Hamilton, Alan Jackson, John Juhasz, Colin Loane, Graham McCarter, Jim McFadzean, John McGiveron, Bob McGregor, Rod Maher, Len Miles, Ian Naidoo, Garry Richards, Garry Richardson, Bob Rochfort, Stephen Salter, Gilbert Schier, Bruce Spilsbury, Toby Spilsbury, Peter Stubbs, Greg Tapp, Trevor Viney, Mike Webb, Barry Wright, Tas Yates.

Thirty one long years and scores of thousands of dollars have passed since that time, hopefully to the betterment of our community, to this present time where only four of the original charter members remain, namely; Kevin Faulkner, Brian Forsythe, John McGiveron, Len Miles.

With a motto of "We Serve" and with the continued aim to, "Help those less fortunate than ourselves" we will survive, hopefully long into the future, as history proclaims we have in the past.

But we will rely on the involvement of younger members to ensure that what was envisaged so long ago, continues to benefit our community in the years to come, and so provide some guarantee that the commitment and goals of the original members was not all in vain.

The Club still remains operative and very viable with the support of fifteen, still dedicated, members, who require nothing more for their efforts, than a smile.

St Marys Lions Club have always been involved in the St Marys Christmas Parade and Children's Party.

Lions Club of St Marys activities

Some of the many activities of the St Marys Lions Club included the billy cart races, which became very popular and were held for a number of years. On the same day there was a pie eating contest. Many entered with a lot of enthusiasm. The winner for this particular year was Andrew Webb. Other planned activities were bus trips for the senior citizens, catering for sheep and bull sales, organizing the Christmas Parade, and lots more. The Lions Club of St Marys is still very active today.

A brief history of the Break O'Day Woodcraft Guild and Men's Shed.

by Reon Johns.

20th November 2004. A Meeting was held at Wendy and Reon's home with the intention of forming a woodworking club. In attendance were Eo Greensticks, Wendy Brennan, Tracy O'Neill, Graham Derbyshire, Dale Wright, Michael Lindsay, Michael Wamoris, Karl Balzer, Pete Williams and Reon Johns. A steering committee was formed, with Reon as President, Eo as Secretary and Pete as Treasurer.

Just over a week later the Break O'Day Woodcraft Guild was incorporated. The Guild then grew to over twenty members. At first we worked out of members' garages until Mayor Salter suggested that we take over the Old Railway Goods Shed.

This involved a lot of repair and the connection of water, sewerage and electricity. The members threw themselves into the upgrading of this run down building and with the help of local tradesmen the Old Railway Goods Shed turned into The Break O'Day Woodcraft Guild workshop.

Our first job was the building of the Mount Elephant Fudge boxes and these are still in use today. Over the last three years we have made numerous noticeboards, repaired chairs, constructed flyscreens and a scale model of the first plane to land in St Marys.

The Guild strives to provide an area for people to share and gain skills or just have a chat. We are open to all adults who love wood or woodwork. We try to be self funding and raise all our money from making and repairing the odd bit of furniture, making noticeboards and other bits and bobs. Our biggest fund raiser is the sausage sizzle. If you see me at the Markets selling sausages come over and say hi and don't forget to buy a snag and support us.

JAM (Jesus And Me)

by Melanie Norton.

Sunday School on a Monday.

JAM will be celebrating its 6th year of operation this year!

The journey began in September, 2001 when a group of children, parents and friends were present for the first session, at the Anglican Church in Main Street.

From its inception, JAM has always been on a Monday, straight after school, and so was usually referred to as "Monday JAM"!

The aim was always, to first love the children, and only then to engage them with fun, games, craft, singing, afternoon tea and always a related lesson from the Bible.

As time went on, numbers grew quickly, and it soon became evident that "Jesus And Me" had outgrown the building. So after much prayer and negotiation, JAM was able, in 2005, to move into the current premises in Story Street, under the new umbrella of the Salvation Army.

JAM has gone from strength to strength, and continues to see much fruit from hard labour!

Heritage Corner

Story taken from Volume 2, No. 3, dated June 6, 1969. Written by Mr J Strochnetter from Ulverstone, who was a former resident of Gray.

Gray, its people, and the old school. What memories are conjured up and what feelings of nostalgia engendering when my mind goes back to that 'old school' at Gray, which I attended in my initial schooldays. The site of the building was in the exact spot where Mr and Mrs Bert Denney used to live. Later the site was changed and the second building was the house which was once owned by Mrs N Macleay.

The first building was completely wooden in structure, with one long room for the schoolroom, and a small skillion room attached, which was used by the teacher as a general purpose room and sleeping quarters. Can you visualize 54 scholars packed into one room with a small fireplace to provide warmth in the cold winter months, and a door that had to be kept open so often for hygienic purposes?

The teacher's name was O.E. Holmes, and you can imagine his difficulties and problems with 54 scholars broken into 7 classes, which he managed single handed. How he did it I will never know. The noise of teaching one class must have distracted the scholars of other classes studying, yet he did this year after year. I can understand now, how he would become irritated and vent his temper on some poor unfortunate scholar who may have been backward. We dubbed him Paddy Holmes (behind his back of course) but he turned out some really good scholars. He got some relief in later years, as I was sufficiently advanced to teach the two lower classes, having passed the sixth class exam after only four years at school. (Pretty good, eh?)

The playing space at the school was restricted, and boys and girls shared the same small playing area. Many of the children attending the school came from considerable distances. I remember one family named King, who used to walk from Irishtown, upwards of 3 miles across country, over fences, fallen trees, along tracks, through bush hanging with white frost, or saturated with rain in the winter time, over streams bridged with only a log, and turn up at school just in time to fall into rank prior to entering school. The teacher would form each class into a separate rank and then give the order to 'mark time'. You can just imagine the clatter—50 well shod children, the boys and some of the girls wearing hobnail boots as they marched to their desks along a bare wooden floor.

As to Gray itself, it comprised a district of some 26 farms, a school, two churches, a Post Office and a saw mill, with a population of 210 people. The farms were comparatively small, ranging from 40 to 100 acres, and were general purpose farms, producing such commodities as were required to up-keep the large families, which were the general rule of the district. The chief cash commodities produced were cheese, butter and some fruit and vegetables. These were sold to provide ready money to purchase clothing and groceries. There was very little money to spare after providing for their large families—my own totalled 16 (including my mother's second marriage) but this was easily eclipsed by our next door neighbour, Mr J. Lehner, who was compelled to provide for 22 children (two families). I take my hat off to him; he did it, and did it well.

I have great admiration for the people of Gray. Sometimes the seasons weren't the best, which made the going tough. I well remember the year 1898, when a disastrous drought struck the district. By the end of the summer there was no grass to be seen, just scorched brown earth, with streams and springs completely dried up and the people had to get water the best way they could, at times carrying it for long distances. At the end of the same year the whole district was ravaged by a disastrous bush fire, which left the place a blackened and ruined countryside.

Yet these wonderful people did not cavil, (find fault or complain) they took it like the men they were and just set to work to make repairs, and hope for a better season next year. And what of the woman folk? They were even more wonderful, and stood by their men folk, caring for those large families and helping each other as well.

It was a common sight to see neighbours trudging along the road with baskets on their arm, and converging on someone in distress.

A wonderful lot of people, and I am proud to have been associated with them.

St. Marys - the best small Post Office in Tasmania

LAST WEEK the St. Marys Post Office received the yearly award for Excellence at the judging held at the International Hotel in Launceston.

The award is judged on three criteria.

1. Customer Service
2. Philatelic Display
3. Community Work undertaken by the staff.

Initially there were 34 other branches in the Statewide competition, but on the last night the field had narrowed down to four southern and one northern branches. The St. Marys branch was awarded first place.

The judges were:

1. Mr David Rowe, State Manager of Australia Post.
2. Mr Ken Buntain, a Director of the Australian Institute of Management.
3. Mrs Sachi Singh, a Solicitor with the Australian Government.

All the judges admitted that they had a hard task but decided unanimously that St. Marys Post Office was the best small Post Office in the State.

Mr Peter Wilson, Postal Manager, Peter Lohrey Postal Service Officer and Postman Scott Bean were quite justifiably proud of their achievement.

It is good to see the high standard that we maintain reflected in the gaining of this Award said Peter Wilson. "We came to Launceston thinking maybe, just maybe we might get third, so you can imagine how we felt when we came in number one. Peter Lohrey was most surprised at the size of the gathering in Launceston - in excess of 100.

After the judging it was down to some pretty heavy celebrating - first to the Launceston Hotel and then onward to the Launceston Casino to savour even more of the delights of victory. The next morning was rather hazy but the winners agreed that they wouldn't change places with the other competitors.

The three staff members now have their eyes fixed firmly on the National Awards, to be held in Melbourne in November, and are hoping to be Tasmania's third winner after Ulverstone in 1984 and George Town in 1988.

Scott will be rounding off a hectic and triumphant week when he marries Melissa Aulich in St. Marys Church of the Assumption at St. Marys at the weekend, 30th September 1989.

We asked Peter Wilson to give us his percentage chance on a win in the National Awards - and 50/50 was his reply.

The Award of Excellence is a fitting tribute to all involved.

St Marys postal officer breaks new ground

St Marys Post Office has recruited a new relief postal delivery officer, and for the first time in the establishment's long history, the officer is female.

Peta Thomas, from St Marys, will be filling in for staff on leave, doing postal deliveries etc when required.

Although it is only a part-time job at the moment, the chances for advancement within Australia Post are endless, according to Mr Peter Wilson, the postmaster at St Marys.

Miss Thomas, who is 18, has been doing advanced education at the Adult Education Centre at St Marys and this factor, along with local knowledge, probably swung the scales in her favour.

Mr Peter Lohrey, the assistant postmaster, said that the postal system had changed dramatically in the past few years and that a good education, computer literacy and a level head when working under pressure was now an integral part of the job.

Memories

John and Linda Spilsbury.

John emigrated from England at the age of 17, working in the mines on the west coast, before trying his hand at farming at Sassafras where he met Linda.

They produced 8 children, the last two being born at St Marys, where they came to in the late 1930's.

John was Secretary of the District Hospital, then Secretary of the Cornwall Coal Company, until his retirement. They were both heavily involved in the community, including the Racing Club, The Red Cross Ambulance Service, Meal on Wheels, and the Silver Threads Senior Citizens Club. John was also a JP.

They both passed away in the 1980's.

A GRAND DAY FOR ST MARYS

Early 1972 the committee of the St Marys Football Club, along with myself as appointed coach, sat down and discussed what players we had for the start of the season, finding out who we had and approximately where they would play. It was obvious that we were deficient in some vital areas. I was given full permission to try and recruit the necessary players. That involved a first class rover, full back and most importantly a big tapping ruckman.

The Williams brothers from Evandale and an exchange with St Helens for Stephen Salter, completed what we thought could get us well into the Finals. We soon moulded ourselves into a very cohesive and well balanced side. When we beat Rossarden at home was when we realised we had what it would take to really give the Flag a shake. The St Marys Tigers had not won a Seniors Premiership for 25 years, and we hoped that we could do it this time.

Cliff and Elwyn Williams and Stephen settled in extremely well, along with Bob Bye, (Stephen and Bob both ex-coaches), and Tim Wardlaw able to roost the Sherrin 60 –70 yards, John Bushing and John Dakin taking charge at the defence end, Ricky Freeman, 16 year old John Hollis, brother George Hollis and Norm Barnes all fleet of foot, gave us first use of the ball. Graeme McCarter, David Dean, Greg Tapp and Tony Rawnsley operating mainly in defence, also made things difficult for opposing sides. David Pendlebury, brothers Les and Ian Newman, 'Big' John Margison and Alan 'Buffalo' Lynch completed the line up of the St Marys Premiership team.

Saturday 2nd September 1972 St Marys versus Avoca at St Marys.

Grand Final day was amazing, record crowd, good weather, the town decked with black and gold balloons and streamers, all made for an exciting day's football. At half time St Marys 7.3 led Avoca 3.5. In the third quarter St Marys raced further ahead through a good team effort, and scored six goals for the quarter to lead by 34 points at the final change. Avoca rallied in the final term, but St Marys was too solid and clinched a 14 point victory.

St Marys 16.6 (101) d Avoca 12.15 (87).

We were certainly the better side on the day. The main ingredients employed in the Finals was fitness, discipline, and professionalism. With a team that played as a team, we were arguably rated as probably the best country side in Tasmania. Some of the 'old timers', Gordon 'Spot' Salter, Roy 'Mick' Gatty, Kelly Birrell, Harold Thomas and Augie Newman remarked to me that the win would give them another ten years!

Presenting the players one by one from the balcony of the St Marys Hotel to the crowd gathered on the street below was a real highlight. The cooperation of the Police Sergeant in closing off the street corner enabled us to carry this out. Celebrations were long and hard going on for nearly two weeks.

The culmination of winning the Flag was certainly twofold, with our new clubrooms, new scoreboard complete with a running electronic clock made by 'Roo' Viney, along with a new pipe fence, gave us the best facilities in the F.D.F.A.

After all this, it gave me the greatest satisfaction as an honorary coach, to thank players, committee, community and sponsors for an historic year.
